At Least, They Could Make A 'No' Sound

Southwestern Michigan's legislators are probably the best contingent in the state when it comes to protecting taxpayers' pocketbooks. Oh, there's an occasional aberration, but mostly they vote like the conservative Republican majorities they represent. When they do stray, it's usually no farther left than the middle of the road.

Last week, however, six out of seven cast votes in favor of an appropriations bill that contained funds for heavy pay increases for themselves and virtually every other state payroller. This is discouraging. If these men are not going to draw the line on ever-spiraling government spending, who will?

Certainly not the Legislature's free-wheeling Democratic majority. Certainly not Republican Gov. William Milliken, who pressured his own GOP colleagues into voting bigger appropriations this past session.

That leaves your average, hard-working taxpayer very little to thank Santa for this Yule season. The state payrollers, on the other hand, are probably so overjoyed they're even now composing new Christmas carols.

Local representatives who voted in favor of the pay raises are: Harry Gast, St. Joseph; Ray Mittan, Niles; Bela Kennedy, Bangor; and DeForrest Strang, Sturgis. Senators Charles Zollar, Benton Harbor, and Gary Byker, Hudsonville, also cast yes votes. Rep. Edgar Fredricks, Holland, wasn't present for the vote.

Fredricks could tell his constituents not to blame him—except for one thing. He, like any other member of the Legislature, could introduce a resolution to reject the pay hikes. With Democrats in control, it's admittedly unlikely the resolution would draw the two-thirds vote in both houses needed to reject the increases. But it would force every lawmaker to go on the record. And, at least, it would serve as a protest.

Some legislator may still introduce such a resolution before the Feb. 1 deadline. That'll give this area's lawmakers a second chance to prove beyond doubt whether they're with "them" or "us."

The final outcome, incidentally, won't make much difference to Benton Harbor's Sen. Zollar. "Charlie" was described last week by the Detroit News as the Legislature's only true "magnate." He gives his net legislative pay after taxes to charity.

All Stars Flicker Out

Forty-two years ago the late Arch Ward, then sports editor for The Chicago Tribune and the dean of the sportswriting fraternity, conceived the idea of matching the best graduating talent from college football teams against the champion of the National Football League.

The profits from this summertime exhibition went to the Chicago Tribune Charities.

Soldiers Field was the selected battleground.

Except for the summer of 1974 when the Players Association was on strike against the NFL, the contest has been a highlight for the Windy City area.

It has produced something over $4 million for a variety of charitable functions in Chicago.

Any number of illustrious personages have participated in it. President Ford, an All American center on one of U-M's poorest teams in Maize and Blue history, was on the 1935 collegian squad.

As a game, only on rare occasions has it compared to the head knocker which the NFL's Superbowl yields.

The pros have the advantage of experience and discipline from playing as a unit in the preceding regular season.

The collegians come in from varying coaching backgrounds which a three-week practice session finds difficult to meld into the cohesion essential to a winning combination. The consequence is to force the All Stars to a passing plan at the expense of balancing their attack with a strong running game.

This edge has enabled the pros to dominate the match-up. They have won in 31 meetings and lost in nine. Two games ended in ties.

The last winning year for the All Stars was in 1963 over the Green Bay Packers.

This imbalance to the contrary, the attendance has been excellent and the entire show an exciting entertainment.

However, in the vein that all good things must come to an end, The Tribune announced a few days ago that it had reached the finish line.

The newspaper gave increasing expense and the uncertainty in recruiting collegiate players as the reasons for cancelling future performances.

Though no player is paid, the high salaries drawn by the pros sends up the cost of insuring them against injury. Last year this one item doubled over prior seasons.

Corraling the collegians has been done through a contract with the NFL. Almost without exception, the collegians are under draft obligations to the NFL teams.

Therefore, a collegian tapped to play by the All Star coaching staff owes a legal duty to the NFL to show up.

Last year 26 of the 55 selected All Stars were negotiating contracts with their future bosses.

They appeared at training camp on their own. This spirit is fine, but it does not add to the All Star staff's confidence to realize it is treating with volunteers rather than conscripts.

The Tribune's announcement mentioned two precedents in the same direction.

The Coaches All American game at Lubbock, Texas, is no more because last year local business sponsorship fell off, the fans failed to show in sufficient numbers, and many collegiate players refused to participate.

The Los Angeles Times dropped its sponsorship of the Pro Bowl, an all star, post season performance, in 1973 for cost reasons. The NFL, however, did pick up the game.

While the Tribune's stated reasoning follows in the theme that professional sports may be pricing themselves out of the market, the suspicion lurks there is another compulsion in mind.

This is crowd control, or, more exactly, audience rowdiness.

Toward the end of the third quarter in the 1975 game which found the Pittsburgh Steelers leading by an easy 24-0 margin, a monsoon swept down on Soldiers Field.

Hundreds of spectators, most of them highly sauced, spilled from the stands to body surf on the field.

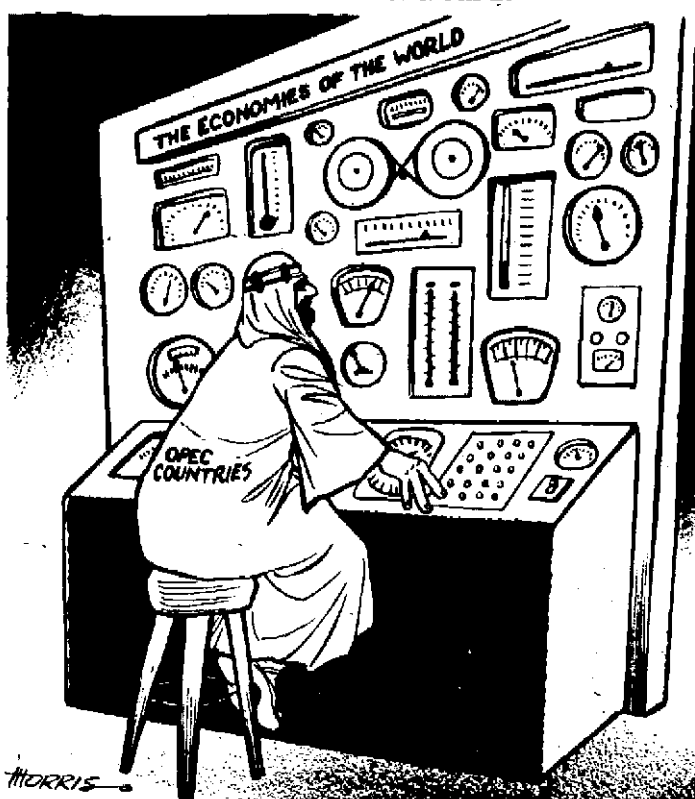

Many attacked the players. The officials called off the game fearing this feisty horse play could erupt into a riot.

Conceivably the NFL might step in to replace The Tribune as the guiding light. A spokesman from Commissioner Pete Rozelle's office said it would be discussed early next year.

The Tribune deserves some kind of a Hall of Fame citation for putting on a fine spectacle for a worthy cause.

It's too bad that circumstances and people beyond its control may have wrecked a great idea

Maple Grove Gets True 'Pictures' Of Christmas

Dear Good Fellows,

This is a note of thanks to express appreciation on behalf of our residents for the checks they received from your organization. With our residents' urging the money was used in conjunction with our own funds to purchase a 126 camera, roll of film and flash cubes for each resident.

All of our residents enjoy pictures, especially of friends and family — this will give them the opportunity to enjoy the creative process of picture taking and provide a means of self expression. With these cameras we hope to run a photography course in which each person will learn to take pictures, develop film, and print their own pictures. The goal is a photographic gallery by our developmentally disabled. Your donations, to a great degree, have made this program possible.

We thank you for your contribution, for without it these gifts would not have been possible. For several of our residents this will be the only gift they receive; so indeed the Good economic experts surely don't march to the same music that those of us who are not acquainted with the dynamics of the inside working of the system. It is frustrating for us that can read and write and add and subtract and divide to imagine how some of their recommendations can possibly work. It must be related to a lot of assumptions that if something is put into motion it must follow that a certain series of other events must in reality follow.

Now on the assumption that a tax reduction will be an income tax reduction so less will be deducted from the payroll of people receiving a periodic paycheck; assuming again that the rebate will be on an average of $4.00 per week per employed person and that 80 million will receive this per week. Computing this would realize $320 million weekly dumped into the economy, with the expectation that this would stimulate and increase the work force. Which is the intention of the tax reduction.

But, it is no assumption that our average employed person never has enough money to go around and as a rule is in debt above his income. This increase in income would be an incentive for him to borrow or go in debt for an amount equal to or more than the extra $4.00 he received. The lending institution or the credit giving organization would more than likely have to, in turn, borrow this money from the bank or organizations able to handle this kind of transaction. These companies must be the ones with the capital available. Now, it is not the wage earner that has this to loan but only people who already have money available, strictly for this purpose. So, if all these things are true, the money goes right back to where it started and how would that create any new jobs or any boost to the economy?

The Hill Badly Needs Reform

WASHINGTON — He's a young idealist of proven ability. He first ran for Congress two years ago because of his concern that the Senate and House had fallen into disrepute. And because he believed that, in his small way, he ought to do what he could. In November he won again — by a landslide.

Today I find him despondent. He's more convinced than ever that Congress is in a bad way — lacking respect, in need of reform.

He has asked to be relieved of a committee assignment in an area he believes tremendously important. What that committee decides is routinely turned over to another committee, which then begins again on the problem from scratch. So what's the point?

There's such a jumble of conflicting jurisdictions on the Hill — whether in energy, welfare, health, or what have you — that it's impossible to get workable bills through. What come out of the pipeline in too many cases are hodgepodge, self-contradicting laws which may intensify the problems they were intended to correct.

Rivalries between conflicting committee and subcommittee chiefs add to the burden.

Then there are bribes. And the cozy relationships between congressmen and special interests. Take the Korean scandal — the lavish gifts and entertainment to influential congressmen. It is merely a sensational example of what's all too common.

There's the misuse of congressional funds and private office accounts available to senators, representatives and, indirectly, to their staffs.

And don't forget the conflicts of interest typified by the case of a congressman with major banking investments who votes on banking legislation which benefits him personally.

Put all the above in a basket and the top priority of this incoming Congress should be clear.

It's not new laws we need. But reform on the Hill.

There's a widespread view among those who believe the sprawling executive bureaucracy needs an overhaul that this is impossible, or if achieved, would be unworkable unless there's a comparable reform of the maze that passes for organization in the Congress.

The average representative has five to six committee and subcommittee roles, the average Senator 18 to 20. Major government agencies must report and be accountable to up to 80 or so committees, subcommittees and special investigative groups.

My friend may be wrong. I hope he is. But he sees few signs that any significant group in Congress is interested in reform — except in public speeches and press releases.

He finds reform apathy prevalent even among the large class of eager men and women first elected two years ago as an aftermath of Watergate. He finds it true among Democrats and Republicans. Though the Republicans talk more about the problem, being in the minority, most seem unwilling to put up a fight for change, whether through discouragement or cynicism.

He's grown weary of prominent so-called public interest groups which seem frequently to charge ahead full tilt on major issues without gathering enough evidence to know what they're doing.

As a result, he doesn't know where to turn. He wanders about asking acquaintances, congressmen and friends at home how one can attack this problem.

Now my friend is not alone. There are other equally conscientious — senators and representatives of my knowledge who want a cleanup.

But the cards are stacked against them. The majority of legislators, it appears, do not want to give up their privileges and prerogatives. They'll make certain that if the pressure is great, and reform bills must be voted, the new laws be so filled with loopholes as to be meaningless.

Single Parents Being Ignored

WASHINGTON — President-elect Jimmy Carter stressed repeatedly during his campaign that he would actively seek legislation to preserve and strengthen the American family, not just make uplifting statements about how important that institution is to the stability of the country.

What he has not made clear, however is whether he is as concerned about single-parent families as he is about those which come with your standard component parts — a father, mother and children. Joseph Califano, the head of Carter's task force to determine how Federal programs can be designed to assist the family structure, submitted a preliminary 15-page report which virtually ignored families with one parent. Califano noted briefly that mothers without husbands who had children under six had an unemployment rate of 19.6 per cent in 1976, and those in the lowest income brackets had a 42 per cent unemployment rate, but he had no specific suggestions for alleviating that situation.

Currently there are 7.5 million single parents raising more than 11 million children, which is one-seventh of all the children in the country. They have unique financial, legal, emotional and social problems no less pressing or important than those of couples. In fact, it can be argued that their problems should be of even more concern to the nation than those of intact families, since their child-rearing burdens are usually greater and the danger of social disintegration perhaps more intense.

Despite all that is written about swinging singles, we are still a nation geared socially and economically only to couples. Churches and other institutions have been slow to recognize that not everybody these days automatically comes in a pair, as if prepared to sail on Noah's Ark. A new magazine called "Single Parent," aimed at former spouses without partners, recently asked Carter his views on some issues of particular concern to singles.

Carter promised to keep single parents in mind in future tax reforms, deploring the fact that the tax burden on a single parent is currently greater than on a two-parent family. "In a direct effort to equalize the tax burden on single- and two-parent families," Carter said, "I will carefully review the use of deductions for child care in revising the tax code."

Carter also said he supported "the basic objective" of The Child and Family Services Act, introduced in the Senate last term by his running mate Walter Mondale. He did not, however, promise to fight for the bill's provisions as now written. The measure is designed to provide "adequate health, nutritional, educational and other services" to the children of parents of limited income who request such assistance. The bill has been criticized as too expensive and as encouraging Federal intervention in child-rearing, and was opposed by President Ford.

Andrus Admits Fishing Trip

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Idaho Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, Jimmy Carter's interior secretary-designate, has acknowledged that he took a 1975 Alaskan fishing trip paid for in part by a major contractor for the trans-Alaska pipeline. Andrus predicted that the subject would be raised at his U.S. Senate confirmation hearings in January. But he said the salmon fishing trip "never caused me one iota of difficulty then, nor will it now."

In fact, it can be argued that their problems should be of even more concern to the nation than those of intact families, since their child-rearing burdens are usually greater and the danger of social disintegration perhaps more intense.

Despite all that is written about swinging singles, we are still a nation geared socially and economically only to couples. Churches and other institutions have been slow to recognize that not everybody these days automatically comes in a pair, as if prepared to sail on Noah's Ark. A new magazine called "Single Parent," aimed at former spouses without partners, recently asked Carter his views on some issues of particular concern to singles.

Carter promised to keep single parents in mind in future tax reforms, deploring the fact that the tax burden on a single parent is currently greater than on a two-parent family. "In a direct effort to equalize the tax burden on single- and two-parent families," Carter said, "I will carefully review the use of deductions for child care in revising the tax code."

Carter also said he supported "the basic objective" of The Child and Family Services Act, introduced in the Senate last term by his running mate Walter Mondale. He did not, however, promise to fight for the bill's provisions as now written. The measure is designed to provide "adequate health, nutritional, educational and other services" to the children of parents of limited income who request such assistance. The bill has been criticized as too expensive and as encouraging Federal intervention in child-rearing, and was opposed by President Ford.

Andrus Admits Fishing Trip

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Idaho Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, Jimmy Carter's interior secretary-designate, has acknowledged that he took a 1975 Alaskan fishing trip paid for in part by a major contractor for the trans-Alaska pipeline.

Andrus predicted that the subject would be raised at his U.S. Senate confirmation hearings in January. But he said the salmon fishing trip "never caused me one iota of difficulty then, nor will it now."

John Crouse Heads C-C

John M. Crouse, vice president physical distribution for Whirlpool corporation, was elected President of the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce at a recent board of directors meeting. Crouse, who is also on the board of directors of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, succeeds John P. Banyon, Division Manager for Indiana and Michigan Electric company, who served two terms as chamber president.

Donald L. Eppelheimer, senior vice president of First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan, was elected chamber treasurer, and succeeds Marvin Bende of Rensel and Schmidtman, CPAs.

Crouse of St. Joseph, was first elected to the Chamber's board of directors in 1973. He most recently has been vice president for organizational affairs.

Crouse is a graduate of Gettysburg, Pa., college and was discharged in 1946 from the U.S. Air Force with the rank of major. He has held various positions of management with Whirlpool and has served on industry committees and boards. He was elected to the board of directors and executive committee of the Michigan Economic Development corporation this year.

Eppelheimer, of St. Joseph, was appointed to the Chamber's board of directors in 1975. He holds a master of science degree from Michigan State University. For 14 years, he was employed by the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension service before joining the First National Bank of Southwestern

No Charges To Be Filed In Double Fatality Fire

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Berrien Prosecutor John Smietanka yesterday announced no charges will be authorized in connection with an Oct. 8 house fire in Benton Harbor which claimed the lives of two sisters.

Cynthia Halliburton, 14, and her sister, Sabrina, 7, of 753 Columbus avenue, died during the early morning fire, despite life-saving attempts by Benton Harbor firefighters.

Smietanka said his office reviewed reports of the fire submitted by both the Benton Harbor police and fire departments. "Following a thorough examination of the reports submitted to this office it appears that there can be no basis for any criminal charges of negligence against any of the parties involved — due to a lack of evidence to sustain these charges," the prosecutor ruled.

Fire Chief Harold Gaddie reported the cause of the blaze was careless smoking. He said the fire spread after the cigarette of one of the residents of the house ignited bedding.

During the fire, two others in the house got out with minor injuries and three, including the girls' mother, Mrs. DeJores Halliburton, escaped unharmed. The sisters were asleep in an upstairs bedroom when the fire broke out.

In issuing his ruling, Smietanka also took the opportunity to warn parents of fire hazards. "We would hope that a tragic event such as this would serve as a strong reminder to all parents of the vigilance that must be maintained to avoid similar consequences."

Berrien Jury Convicts Man Of Laundry Break-In

A Berrien Circuit court jury deliberated 15 minutes yesterday before convicting a Benton Harbor man of breaking into a Benton Harbor business.

Convicted of breaking and entering was Willie E. Shields, 24, of 932 Columbus avenue, who remained jailed to await a sentence which could run up to 10 years in prison. Shields was convicted of breaking into the American Laundry, at 227 Territorial road, Benton Harbor, on June 16.

Opposing counsel during the two-day trial in Judge William S. White's court were Assistant Prosecutor Quentin Fulcher and St. Joseph Atty. Paul Jancha.

In another Berrien Circuit court trial, jurors deliberated 23 minutes before convicting a Wisconsin man of receiving and concealing stolen property valued at more than $100.

Jurors in Judge Chester J. Byrns' court returned the guilty verdict against Edward Sherman, 37. Following the verdict, Byrns revoked Sherman's $5,000 bond and ordered him jailed to await sentencing of up to five years in prison.

Sherman was convicted of possessing a Chevrolet Blazer, stolen from Illinois, on Oct. 2, 1975, in Benton township. State police from the Benton Harbor post reported the vehicle was pursued at high speeds on roads and then through fields before Sherman was apprehended.

Opposing counsel during the two-day trial were Berrien Prosecutor John Smietanka and St. Joseph Atty. William Lagoni.

Mark A. Jefferson, 20, of 320 Brunson avenue, Benton Harbor pleaded guilty before Judge White to assault with intent to commit second degree criminal sexual conduct against a 43-year-old woman Oct. 24 in Benton Harbor.

CONTRACT AWARDS DELAYED Retarded School Bids Numerous

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

BERRIEN SPRINGS — An unusually large number of bidders forced the Berrien county intermediate school board last night to postpone awarding contracts for construction of a $2.4 million centralized school for mentally impaired children.

Board President Lawrence Peachey said contracts will be awarded at either a special meeting to be announced or at the regular Jan. 6 meeting of the board. The bids were opened at a special meeting of the intermediate school board last night. The bid reading took about an hour and a half.

The board went into executive session after the bids were opened, but Peachey came out during the meeting and told the press contracts would not be awarded at that time because there were so many bids. About 40 different firms submitted bids for the various contracts. About 75 people attended the special meeting, most of them representing bidders.

Ben F. Winslow, coordinator for career education planning in the district, attended last night's meeting and termed the number of bidders "overwhelming." He added, "You can tell by tonight that the need for construction work in this neck of the woods is pretty obvious."

Under "general construction" 14 different construction firms submitted bids. Under "plumbing, heating and ventilating" 12 companies; under "electrical" eight companies, and under "carpeting" six submitted bids.

Most of the companies entered a base bid and alternate bids for different things ranging from parking lot lights to an all-electric boiler. The board must decide what alternates it wants to go along with the project.

Under general construction, the apparent low bidder for base bid was Ira C. Mast & Son, Elkhart, Ind., at $1,504,000 and a length of completion of 11 months.

Other base bids under general construction (followed by time allotted for completion) were: Carl Reinke & Sons, South Bend, $1,636,636 (16 months); Whitaker Construction Co., Kalamazoo, $1,574,300 (14 months); Ziolkowski Construction Co., South Bend, $1,557,583 (16 months); Christman Construction Co., South Bend, $1,537,000 (14 months); DeYoung & Bagin Construction Co., $1,649,657 (17 months); The Hickey Co., South Bend, $1,589,000 (12 months).

PHI Construction Co., Lansing, $1,743, 800 (16 months); Holland Construction Co., St. Joseph, $1,573,000 (15 months); Miller-Davis Co., Kalamazoo, $1,532,800 (16 months); Pearson Construction Co., Benton Harbor, $1,523,150 (12 months); Wright Construction Corp., Elkhart, $1,806,000 (14 months); J.C. Carlson Construction Co., Grand Rapids, $1,583,800 (20 months); and Osterink Construction Co., Grand Rapids, $1,520,000 (20 months).

Under plumbing, heating and ventilating the apparent low bidder for the base bid was Earl Phelps Mechanical, Cedar Springs, Mich., with $382,267.

Other firms and bids were: O.J. Shoemaker, South Bend, $611,000; Ideal Plumbing & Heating, Benton Harbor, $688,800; Associated Mechanical Services, Kalamazoo, $624,000; Dye Plumbing & Heating, LaPorte, $667,000; Frank W. Casselman, Sturgis, $674,686; DeWulf Mechanical Contractors, Mishawaka, $645,000.

Associated Sales & Service, South Bend, $671,628; R.W. LaPine, Paw Paw, $673,538; Dent Plumbing and Heating, Portage, $696,923; Peter Boma Plumbing Co., Grand Rapids, $615,662; and Breuker & DenBeyker, Holland, $607,642.

Under electrical the apparent low base bid was from Inter City Electric, Stevensville, at $223,900.

Other firms and base bids were: Workinger Electric, Elkhart $258,372; Whittaker Electric, Muskegon, $250,967; Beaudoin-Steuilard, St. Joseph, $244,444; Mead and White, Bridgman, $314,666; Boyd Electric, Niles, $249,200; DePree Electric, Holland, $229,958 and Van Dyke Electric, Grand Rapids, $250,000.

The apparent low base bidder for the carpeting contract was Interior Finishes, Osceola, Ind., at $38,497.

Other firms and base bids were:

Sears Contract Sales, South Bend, $36,510; Sol Steadman Co., Lansing, $42,878; Battle Creek Tile, Battle Creek, $37,129; Grand Rapids Tile, Grand Rapids, $40,868; and Central Tile, Kalamazoo, $37,174.

The new central school, called a "Developmental Center," is to be located in Berrien Springs about 500 feet south of the Intermediate headquarters on St. Joseph avenue (US-31-33). It will replace facilities now used for the education of mentally handicapped children at Lakeside-Gard, St. Joseph, and Fairland school, Niles.

The building will contain 80,000 square feet and will include numerous classrooms, clinical and nurse's rooms, a gymnasium and 30 by 60-foot swimming pool.

Ex-Berrien Man Fears For His Marshal's Job

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

Marvin Washington, a former Berrien county sheriff's deputy and Benton Harbor native, says the U.S. marshal's job he has held for eight years is in jeopardy because of the transition from a Republican to a Democratic president.

The future of Washington's $8,000 a year political patronage job as marshal of the Western Michigan district rests with U.S. Senator-elect Donald Riegle (D-Flint) and President-elect Jimmy Carter. Riegle will recommend an appointment to Carter and Carter will appoint U.S. marshals, subject to Senate confirmation. Washington, who became Berrien county's first black sheriff's officer on joining the department in 1952, was appointed U.S. marshal in 1968 by Republican President Richard Nixon.

Five People Are Injured In Collision

Five people in two cars sustained apparently minor injuries Wednesday in a collision involving three cars on M-139 north of Nickerson avenue, Benton township, state police of the Benton Harbor post reported.

Injured in one car were the driver, Donna Jean Kublick, 29, and her son, Vincent 2, both of 341½ Ward avenue, St. Joseph. Injured in the other car were the driver Michael John Vladic, 32, his wife, Kathleen, 32, and son John, 8, of route 1, box 145, Eau Claire. All of the injured were released after treatment at Memorial hospital.

Driver of the third car was Imogene Grace Dillard, 35, of 969 East John Beers road, Stevensville, who was unhurt. Troopers said Mrs. Kublick was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way in the 1:15 p.m. accident.

Car Fire Doused

Benton Harbor firemen extinguished a fire in a car Wednesday that was caused apparently by a short in wiring, firemen reported. The fire in the 1967 Pontiac of Lee Thomas, 676 Highland avenue, was reported at 9:10 p.m. in an alley behind Thomas' home. Damage to wiring and insulation was estimated at $100, according to firemen.

Other groups and individuals, including a Grand Rapids American Legion post, several Grand Rapids attorneys, and community leaders, and officials from the Michigan Civil Rights office in Lansing, have notified Washington that they are supporting him to continue as U.S. marshal.

As U.S. marshal, Washington is responsible for transferring prisoners and for the safety of judges, jurors and witnesses in federal district court in Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo. The western district he oversees includes the western half of the lower peninsula and the entire upper peninsula.

Washington's accomplishments during his eight years as marshal include a Department of Justice award in 1975. Washington received that award for recommending that the U.S. Attorney General send a personal letter of condolence to families of slain police officers. The recommendation has been practiced by the U.S. Attorney General ever since.

Washington was the first black appointed as U.S. marshal in the State of Michigan and the sixth black the sixth black U.S.

Sears Not Defendant In Lawsuit

A story in Wednesday's paper about an out-of-court settlement of a civil suit in Berrien circuit court erroneously identified Sears, Roebuck and Co. as a defendant.

Court records indicate Sears was dismissed as a defendant in the case on Feb. 27, 1974.

The plaintiff in the suit, Walter H. Gillespie of Bangor, reportedly received a $140,000 settlement out of court, for disabling injuries he claimed to have received from falling through a glass shower door in his apartment on Oct. 29, 1972.

Defendants reported involved in the settlement were Wagner Plumbing Co., and Elmer Guss and Arthur Sherrard, owners of the apartment building where Gillespie resided.

New Real Estate Firm Opens Office

Barry Wilson has announced the opening of Barry Wilson Real Estate, 2700 Niles avenue, St. Joseph, for sales of residential, commercial, industrial and business properties.

Wilson, formerly a vice president with First Federal Savings & Loan Association, Niles, has 15 years experience in real estate and is a member of the southwestern Michigan Board of Realtors. He said his firm also is a member of the Multiple Listing System of Southwestern Michigan.

Jerry Van Den Berg, who has been in real estate 10 years, is sales manager. Wilson said other services offered are property management, appraisals and mortgage brokering.

Wilson lives at 1221 Lane

Sears Not Defendant In Lawsuit

A story in Wednesday's paper about an out-of-court settlement of a civil suit in Berrien circuit court erroneously identified Sears, Roebuck and Co. as a defendant.

Court records indicate Sears was dismissed as a defendant in the case on Feb. 27, 1974.

The plaintiff in the suit, Walter H. Gillespie of Bangor, reportedly received a $140,000 settlement out of court, for disabling injuries he claimed to have received from falling through a glass shower door in his apartment on Oct. 20, 1972.

Defendants reported involved in the settlement were Wagner Plumbing Co., and Elmer Goss and Arthur Sherrod, owners of the apartment building where Gillespie resided.

Dolls Under The Tree Christmas Tradition

COLLECTOR: The artistic beauty of dolls was discovered by Mrs. Lloyd (Margaret) Zoschke for members of the Antiquarian Society at the December meeting. Mrs. Zoschke holds Eleanor who was purchased in 1906. Eleanor, who Mrs. Zoschke is holding, was purchased in 1906 and was named after Mrs. Zoschke's friend and also because it was her favorite name. The doll has a swivel bisque head and a composition jointed body.

ELEANOR: Seventy-year-old Eleanor was manufactured by Simon & Halbig, a famous German doll factory specializing in doll heads, as indicated by a mole mark on the back of her shoulder. Her composition body was made by Heinrich Handwerck whose name is stamped in purple on her lower body. This company specialized in making ball-jointed dolls. Mrs. Zoschke said Eleanor is dressed in her original clothes which were made by a friend of her mother's.

EMILY: The last doll-baby Mrs. Zoschke found under her Christmas tree was Emily in 1908. Dressed in her original gown, Emily has two molded teeth and a porcelain tongue. The doll has a layette of long clothes made exactly like all babies wore in those days, complete with flannel belly band, diapers, shirt and petticoats. Like Eleanor, Emily was manufactured by Simon & Halbig. She is a ball-jointed doll with a composition body made of a mixture of plaster of paris, bran, sawdust and glue.

GIBSON GIRL: A doll from about the 1890's belonging to Mrs. Michael (Connie) Yore is dressed as a Gibson Girl. Mrs. Yore's doll was one of about 100 rare dolls on display at the December meeting of the Antiquarian Society. Mrs. Zoschke said lady dolls predominated up until 1880 when baby and child dolls appeared. Dolls displayed ranged from a one and one-half inch bisque doll belonging to Mrs. Eldon Butzbaugh to a full size baby doll with real baby clothes owned by Mrs. Dean McKinney.

It has always been traditional for little girls to be quite sure of finding a new doll under the Christmas tree, according to Mrs. Lloyd (Margaret) Zoschke.

Speaking on "Dolls Under the Christmas Tree" at the December meeting of Antiquarian Society, she said little girls from affluent households found expensive dolls made of china, while those of poor families received dolls whittled out of wood or made of corn husks.

Mrs. Zoschke said Christmas is a family celebration, a time to renew relationships with those we love and a time to bring cheer to those less fortunate.

"Families everywhere have always satisfied the mother-instinct in little girls by making sure there was a doll of some sort, bought or made, to put under the Christmas tree."

During Mrs. Zoschke's childhood in Connecticut, she had a large family of bisque dolls that included Marquerite, Jennie, Laura and Emily, which she found under the Christmas tree in 1906.

Emily was the last baby doll Mrs. Zoschke received and is an example of a ball-jointed doll with a composition body, a mixture of several materials including plaster of paris, bran, sawdust and glue.

The mole mark on the back of the doll's shoulder indicates that she was made by Simon & Halbig, a porcelain factory in operation in Gräfenhain, Germany, from 1870-1925, which specialized in making doll heads.

Eleanor, another of Mrs.

Zoschke's dolls, is stamped with the Simon & Halbig trademark. A purple stamp on the 70-year-old doll's lower body indicates the composition body was made by Heinrich Handwerck, who specialized in making quality ball-jointed dolls.

Mrs. Zoschke said she can remember playing for hours with her large doll family rocking and singing to them, bathing them, and dressing them, first for play in casual dress, then for tea or church or for a party and then putting them in their beds at night.

"Dolls, to me, were just like miniature human beings. Indeed, dolls have been defined as 'a child's plaything in human form.' Love for dolls seems to be instinctive in people, especially little girls, who have been the mothers of the human race since time began."

Dolls are not confined to a child's world. They have a place in the lives of adults, too. "Within the past 50 years, doll collecting among adults has become a popular hobby," Mrs. Zoschke said.

The condition of dolls is upmost in pricing. An all-original doll in excellent condition will bring top dollar and sometimes more, especially if she has on her original clothes.

Mrs. Zoschke said the cost of doll repairs has soared and it is wise to judge the damage and estimate repair costs before buying or selling a doll. Nothing should stand in the way of having an heirloom doll restored. Old dolls are rare and there is a great deal of sentimental value in having such a doll.

Mrs. Zoschke found one of her china dolls in a cluttered antique shop. The doll had no clothes and had a small hole on one side of her cloth body, possibly gnawed by a hungry mouse, but was perfect in all other respects.

The doll possibly was made between 1815 and 1840 as indicated by the heeless ankle boots and sloping shoulders. "But because of her flat top hair style, she might date in the 1860's," Mrs. Zoschke said. "It is hard to tell."

Another characteristic of dolls of this era, is a red line above the eye to suggest a lid.

China dolls were made in America from 1750 to 1800, but the majority were created in Germany by a process that involved molding clay, firing and glazing.

Ninety-five per cent of china dolls had blue eyes and one per cent had brown eyes, Mrs. Zoschke said. The blue-eyed dolls were a tribute to Queen Victoria who reigned in England from 1837-1901, the period in which the dolls were most popular.

Raven black hair was standard because the color fired up best. "It is almost impossible to find one with blonde or brown hair, although a few were made."

French china dolls range in height from six to forty inches tall, with the most common heights being 10 and 18 inches.

"The French dolls were often used to meet the demand of the foreign dressmakers who used these little models to take around with them in order to spread abroad the latest French fashion," Mrs. Zoschke said.

When German factories began manufacturing dolls in the 14th century, children were able to have more realistic dolls than before. With improved manufacturing methods, production increased and the cost went down.

By the 18th century, middle class families could afford well-made dolls. By the mid-19th century, further improvements brought them within reach of almost everyone.

Various materials were used to make doll heads. Some were made of wax, some china, some of bisque and unglazed china and others of papier-mache. Bodies were usually made of kid. Doll makers began using composition or "compo," a less expensive material, toward the end of the 19th century.

Other dolls were made, probably in the late 19th century, of celluloid. "The earliest made celluloid dolls are hard to find and have faded badly, but later ones are of superior quality," Mrs. Zoschke said.

The celluloid dolls were made in quantity between the two World Wars, but were gradually replaced by composition, rubber and plastics.

"Baby dolls made their appearance about the middle of the 19th century. After this, lady dolls of the past became less common, and the majority of dolls manufactured were child or baby dolls," Mrs. Zoschke said.

In the 1890's, the first swivel head was introduced by the Jumeau family, a French bisque doll manufacturer.

Other famous makers of bisques, included the French firm of Bru, which merged with Jumeau, and German manufacturers, Armand Marseille, Kestner and Simon & Halbig.

Artisans were at work at the doll factories, Mrs. Zoschke said. As many as 2,500 heads were baked at one time in the space of 48 hours. Women spent all of their lives just making eyelashes, while others made eyebrows or lips and others painted rosy cheeks.

Mrs. Zoschke said the earliest dolls on record were found in graves of children in Egypt and Greece thousands of years ago. "The clothes for these dolls were painted on their bodies and I am quite sure the owners could not have had as much fun."

"Today, girls like mechanical dolls that can shed tears, sing, talk, walk, dance, etc." She cited the Barbie doll which has been popular for several years.

Another of the more popular dolls was the Shirley Temple doll, which reached a sale of 1.5 million in 1934.

"A doll, of all the toys of childhood, is in a class all by itself. Dolls are so life-like and so characteristic of a human being which they represent, that one scarcely thinks of them as a toy. They are more like a companion or a member of the family. And if they are loved and tenderly cared for, they live forever," Mrs. Zoschke said.

Has 85th Birthday

HARTFORD — Mrs. Lucy Fisher Fullerton, 408 South Haver street, Hartford, observed her 85th birthday Dec. 21.

Mrs. Fullerton was born Dec. 21, 1891, in rural Hartford, the daughter of Truman and Nellie Hunt Stratton.

After her marriage to Will E. Fisher in 1912, they owned and operated a farm in Keeler township where she lived for 47 years. Upon her husband's death in 1959, she moved to Hartford.

She married David Fullerton in 1963 and he died in 1972.

Mrs. Fullerton, a 1909 graduate of Hartford high school, has three daughters, Mrs. Otis (Eleanore) Rupright of West Lafayette, Ind., and Mrs. Jerry (Margaret) VanEck and Mrs. Jack (Dorothea) McIntyre of Kalamazoo; six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

In honor of her birthday, Mrs. Fullerton received birthday cards from President and Mrs. Gerald Ford and Gov. William Milliken.

Winter Salad

Tear fresh spinach into salad size pieces. Add some chopped green onion, bean sprouts and canned cling peach slices.

Combine with tart oil and vinegar dressing for a nutritious, low-calorie winter salad.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE: The Shirley Temple doll, owned by Mrs. Milton DeZwaan, was very popular in 1934. Mrs. Zoschke said sales of the doll reached 1.5 million shortly after Miss Temple appeared in films. She also cited the Barbie doll as another popular doll. "Today, girls like mechanical dolls that can shed tears, sing, talk, walk, dance, etc.," she said. (Staff photos)

BISQUE: Mrs. Frank (Beverly) Linn's bisque doll was made in the early 1900's. Mrs. Zoschke said the word bisque comes from the term bisquit in ceramics. When clay comes from the kiln it is in a hard form known as bisque. It can be glazed to produce a glossy surface or can be left in the unglazed or bisque state.

Recreate Christmases

Greenfield Village

DEARBORN — For today's generation, the simple word Christmas is likely to prompt thoughts of aluminum trees, crowded parking lots and an endless stream of January bills. Wouldn't it be nice to go back to the days when Christmas wasn't quite such a hassle?

You can, according to spokesmen at Greenfield Village where Christmas is being presented the way it used to be, the way we often wish it could be.

In the village, three centuries of American Christmases are faithfully remembered and authentically recreated. Here, snow is a carpet for horse-drawn sleighs, the savory smells of holiday cookery emanate from many a century-old kitchen and the annual visit by St. Nicholas is still an event to be met with great anticipation.

Step inside the Cotswold Cottage, for instance. Dating to about 1620, it was brought to the village from England to typify the kinds of homes our ancestors left behind in the Old World. Here, flickering firelight plays on the decorative garlands of holly, ivy and boxwood, ancient symbols of the continuation of life. Outside, on the wellhead, rests a Yule log, another symbol whose steady burning was once thought to guarantee a year of good luck.

Not far away is the one-room Plympton House where traditions brought to America by the Dutch are retailed. On the door hang three oranges on a pine swag to represent the three bags of gold St. Nicholas gave to three young women as a dowry in one of the legends about his generous gift giving. Inside, wooden shoes filled with carrots and straw for St. Nicholas' horse are set on the hearth. A pot of white beans signifies the end of famine in St. Nicholas' home country.

Christmas in the 1720s is represented at the Secretary Pearson House, home of the first secretary of state of New Hampshire. In the dining room, a pyramid of luxury imported fruits — oranges from Seville, lemons and lemons from the West Indies — graces the table. Such pyramids were both decorative and functional; the diners ate them.

Christmas trees have their place in village homes as well. In Noah Webster's stately Connecticut home, the tree in the drawing room is decorated with glass balls, birds and candles in tin holders. It is patterned after one of the earliest known illustrations of a Christmas tree in America which appeared in 1836. Small American flags and candles in tin holders adorn a tabletop tree in the 1860 Henry Ford Birthplace. The idea for such a tree was taken from an 1896 illustration and depicts the nation's patriotic fervor at the end of the Civil War.

More than a display of traditional decorations, however, Christmas at the village also recalls the activity of holidays gone by. Molasses fally bubbles on the stove in the farmhouse kitchen of the 1816 Edison Homestead and visitors are tempted by the warm mincewheat farts coming out of the oven at the Stephen Foster Birthplace. In the village Crafts Center, bread baking, broom making, weaving, tin-smithing, glass blowing, pottery making and other century-old skills are demonstrated.

Inside Town Hall, on the village green, complimentary hot, spiced cider and Christmas cookies await chilly visitors. Across the green, at Clinton Inn, guests may warm themselves beside a roaring fire, enjoying their food amid festive decorations that recreate Christmas in a roadside hostelry of the 1800s.

Outside carolers wander along the snow-covered streets. Visitors may take a nostalgic ride in a horse-drawn sleigh (snow conditions permitting) or travel the village perimeter in a restored railway coach of the 1870s pulled by a 100-year-old locomotive.

The old-fashioned Christmas observance at Greenfield Village continues daily through Jan. 2 with the exception of Christmas Day and New Year's Day when the village is closed.

CHRISTMAS TREE: Strings of popcorn and cranberries graced many an early American Christmas tree like this one in the parlor of the Wright Birthplace at Greenfield Village. In addition to the handmade decorations, the tree also features colored electric lights, which first appeared on American Christmas trees in about 1907.

KISSING BELL: A kissing bell made of laurel, mistletoe, apples and beeswax candles hangs from the ceiling in the center hallway of the Ann Arbor House at Greenfield Village during the Christmas season. Story has it that young couples would make a game of trying to bite the apples and, in the process, exchange a kiss. The Ann Arbor House, an excellent example of Greek revival architecture, dates to about 1840. It was the home of poet Robert Frost when he taught at the University of Michigan from 1925-27.

Rhodesians Wed At AU

BERRIEN SPRINGS — For two Rhodesian students at Andrews university, Dec. 15 was a happy day — it was their wedding day. In a double wedding ceremony, the friends and roommates married their long-time sweethearts from Africa.

The beaming smiles of the brides and grooms after the ceremony revealed their joy at being reunited after a separation of over a year. The grooms have been enrolled at Andrews since the fall of 1975, while the brides have remained in Rhodesia.

Joel Musvosvi and his bride, Angeline Mdriri, have known each other for seven years. He called the wedding "the biggest event in my life, next to accepting Christ. I think she's a terrific girl."

Zebbron Neube and his new wife, Teggie Dube, were engaged for four years. He had eagerly anticipated the wedding with friends present, the companionship of marriage, and, practically speaking, he looked forward with relief to not having to cook.

Both of the brides are interested in home economics, Angeline having been a home economics teacher in an eastern Rhodesian secondary school before coming to the United States. They will each take classwork in the field while their husbands complete requirements for the master of divinity degree.

After their arrival at Andrews on Dec. 10, the brides received assistance in the wedding plans from Mrs. Ingrid DuPreez, who became interested in the wedding because of her son's friendship with the grooms.

The brides' attire followed the traditional "something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue." The American-style wedding was complete with organ, soloist and photographer.

Pastor Chester Damron, an Andrews campus chaplain, officiated. A reception followed in the Campus Center.

The couples will reside in Garland Apartments near the campus. After completing their educational programs, they will return to Rhodesia, where the grooms will teach at Sulusi college, a Seventh-day Adventist educational institution.

Hosts Party Auxiliary

SANTA VISITS: Santa Claus (William Morlock of Berrien Springs) visits with Berrien General hospital patients Maude Luft and Edward Botham at the hospital's 12th annual Christmas party sponsored by the hospital's auxiliary. Mrs. Claus also visited patients and those unable to attend the gathering in the cafeteria were visited in their rooms. Each patient received a gift and Mrs. Jerry Nestpita coordinated the distribution of the gifts. Mrs. David Schug, chairman of the event, said gifts were donated by groups and individuals throughout the county. Others helping with the party were Robert Stem, Michelle Farwell, Tammy Walton, Scott Stem, Mrs. Richard Chaudoir, Mrs. Doris Walton, Mrs. D.A. Mercier, Mrs. Dan Klein and Mrs. Betty Podworski.

Give Meat Present

When holiday shopping finally gets the best of you, do what would have been a good idea in the first place.

Don't think of your home as a museum where only certain period pieces can be admitted. Today, we recognize that the good designs of all periods and ages have a basic beauty that makes them compatible. Good proportion, excellent craftsmanship and fine woods will harmonize no matter what their dates. # Recreate Christmases

Greenfield Village

DEARBORN — For today's generation, the simple word Christmas is likely to prompt thoughts of aluminum trees, crowded parking lots and an endless stream of January bills. Wouldn't it be nice to go back to the days when Christmas wasn't quite such a hassle?

You can, according to spokesmen at Greenfield Village where Christmas is being presented the way it used to be, the way we often wish it could be.

In the village, three centuries of American Christmases are faithfully remembered and authentically recreated. Here, snow is a carpet for horse-drawn sleighs, the savory smells of holiday cookery emanate from many a century-old kitchen and the annual visit by St. Nicholas is still an event to be met with great anticipation.

Step inside the Cotswold Cottage, for instance. Dating to about 1620, it was brought to the village from England to typify the kinds of homes our ancestors left behind in the Old World. Here, flickering firelight plays on the decorative garlands of holly, ivy and boxwood, ancient symbols of the continuation of life. Outside, on the wellhead, rests a Yule log, another symbol whose steady burning was once thought to guarantee a year of good luck.

Not far away is the one-room Plympton House where traditions brought to America by the Dutch are recalled. On the door hang three oranges on a pine swag to represent the three bags of gold St. Nicholas gave to three young women as a dowry in one of the legends about his generous gift giving. Inside, wooden shoes filled with carrots and straw for St. Nicholas' horse are set on the hearth. A pot of white beans signifies the end of famine in St. Nicholas' home country.

Christmas in the 1720s is represented at the Secretary Pearson House, home of the first secretary of state of New Hampshire. In the dining room, a pyramid of luxury imported fruits — oranges from Seville, limes and lemons from the West Indies — graces the table. Such pyramids were both decorative and functional; the diners ate them.

Christmas trees have their place in village homes as well. In Noah Webster's stately Connecticut home, the tree in the drawing room is decorated with glass balls, birds and candies in tin holders. It is patterned after one of the earliest known illustrations of a Christmas tree in America which appeared in 1836. Small American flags and candles in tin holders adorn a tabletop tree in the 1860 Henry Ford Birthplace. The idea for such a tree was taken from an 1866 illustration and depicts the nation's patriotic fervor at the end of the Civil War.

More than a display of traditional decorations, however, Christmas at the village also recalls the activity of holidays gone by. Molasses fatty bubbles on the stove in the farmhouse kitchen of the 1816 Edison Homestead and visitors are tempted by the warm mince pie tarts coming out of the oven at the Stephen Foster Birthplace. In the village Crafts Center, bread baking, broom making, weaving, tinsmithing, glass blowing, pottery making and other century-old skills are demonstrated.

Inside Town Hall, on the village green, complimentary hot, spiced cider and Christmas cookies await chilly visitors. Across the green, at Clinton Inn, guests may warm themselves beside a roaring fire, enjoying their food amid festive decorations that recreate Christmas in a roadside hostelry of the 1800s.

Outside carolers wander along the snow-covered streets. Visitors may take a nostalgic ride in a horse-drawn sleigh (snow conditions permitting) or travel the village perimeter in a restored railway coach of the 1870s pulled by a 100-year-old locomotive.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Child On Leash No Pet

Dear Ann: Last weekend we took our family to King's Island. I was concerned about our three-year-old because she's a very active child and I feared she might get lost.

I stuck a length of heavy macramé cord in my purse. When we arrived, I laced it through the belt loops on her jeans and tied it with a knot. The other end I looped around my wrist. Needless to say we were never separated and I had a much better time not having to worry about her safety.

What surprised me was the response of the onlookers. All day long people kept making comments. One woman said, "Maybe she thinks the little girl is a dog."

Don't people realize what could happen to a lost child? During the day, I saw several children being spanked and scolded for wandering off. No one pointed and commented on THAT. I hope you will agree with me, Ann. Please comment. — Playing It Safe In Indianapolis

Dear Safe: I do. As for the onlookers, why concern yourself with them? You did what was best for your child and that's what counts.

Perfect Match

Dear Ann: Tell the 60-year-old widow who signed herself "Mood Indigo" that the "beautiful married man" who played his little love game when they were stuck in the elevator together didn't do it because he thought SHE was "attractive," young-looking and sexy." He did it because he thought HE was all those things, and she helped him prove it by falling like a ton of cordwood. Tell her if SHE had been his wife, and another woman got stuck in an elevator with him, he would have played the same game with HER. I'll bet the elevator Romeo's wife has watched him shower women with attention ever since they returned from their honeymoon. But she has no fear of losing him because she knows he would never do anything that might upset HIS life.

Mr. "Me First" doesn't care what he does to the women who go gaga over him. How come I'm so smart? I just happen to be another gal who is married to a beautiful man, but I couldn't care less what he does in elevators — or elsewhere. He's a lovely meat-ticket and I'm tired of working. — Mrs. X.

Wants Curves

Dear Miss Landers: I'd appreciate it if you would tell me the names of the states where silicone shots to enlarge a woman's breasts are legal. Also will you please give me the name of a doctor who gives these shots? Thanks a lot. — Flat Faye

Dear Flat: There is NO state in which silicone shots are legal for breast enlargement. This is a dangerous procedure which can cause serious trouble. Silicone IMPLANTS, however, are legal in every state.

Sorry, I never recommend doctors. Call your County Medical Society and ask for the names of two or three plastic surgeons. Then take your pick.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It won't count against you not to make all the Christmas parties today. In fact, your system may be spared some anguish if you skip a few!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If something nice comes your way today, take care who's listening when you talk about it. You may unwittingly hurt the feelings of another less fortunate.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Even though someone you love is out of sight, they shouldn't be out of your mind today. Let them know you're thinking of them.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) There's a valid reason that someone you're fond of may be more generous towards another than he is to you. Don't fret. You'll learn why later.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your mate is more likely to be filled with the Christmas spirit than you are today. Just don't let on you're not altogether with it and you'll have as much fun!

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Before you get too much into the festive mood today, attend to those few little tasks. Then you can play with a clear conscience.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Circumstances may result in some being alone and feeling left out today. If you learn of such a person, make sure to include him or her in your festive plans.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) It's important to treat all members of the family with equal good grace today. Don't overindulge some while turning your back on others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Have a good time today, but if you've absorbed too much holiday cheer, turn the keys over to someone else. You'll be glad tomorrow.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't let your expansive mood cause you to make promises you won't want to keep. Things may look different in the cold light of dawn.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 1) Don't let your expansive mood cause you to make promises you won't keep. Things may look different in the cold light of dawn.

Dr. Lester Coleman

Male impotence is a serious factor in the emotional makeup of those who are handicapped by it. Typical of the dozens of letters that I receive is this one, which outlines the magnitude of the problem:

"I am 44 years old and have been divorced for eight years. The divorce was a painful one. For the past eight years I have been afraid to make meaningful contacts with women."

"I have now found someone I wish to marry, but cannot do so because of my fearful dread of being impotent."

"Are there any operations that can be performed to give me another chance at a normal life?" — Mr. H. C. S., Wash.

Dear Mr. S.: The impact of a divorce may affect the emotional competence of a person to a point where potency is temporarily impaired.

When there is no obvious organic disease, before entertaining a surgical approach to impotence, specialists in the field make many psychological evaluations as part of a screening process. Concentrated psychotherapy is undertaken. A complete evaluation of the social structure is made. Marital disharmony and emotional conflicts are examined in an effort to pinpoint possible psychological reasons for impotence.

When all of these have been exhausted, and no benefit accrues to the patient, then the possibility of a surgical approach to this problem is considered.

At the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., and in other major hospitals in the United States, the surgical management for impotence is being carefully studied.

A number of operations have been designed, using an inflatable plastic penis as an implant. The results of the implantation have been most satisfactory in a sizable number of patients. A recent report from Mayo Clinicians, "The inflatable penile prosthesis has thus far proved to be a high satisfactory method of treating organic impotence. Our experience has been limited to patients considered to have organic impotence."

"Through careful patient screening and the cooperative efforts of a psychiatrist we have been able to avoid implanting the device with patients of deep-seated emotional problems."

A great many modifications of the surgical technique are being made. A team of engineers and surgeons is now perfecting the devices that will eventually make a great contribution to the problem of male impotence.

Erma Bombeck

No Chimes This Year

Everything is in readiness. The tree is trimmed. The cards taped to the doorframe. The boxes stacked in glittering disarray under the tree.

Why don't I hear chimes? Remember the small boy who made the chimes ring in a fictional story years ago? As the legend went, the chimes would not ring unless a gift of love was placed on the altar. Kings and men of great wealth placed untold jewels on the altar, but year after year the church remained silent.

Then one Christmas eve, a small child in a tattered coat made his way down the aisle and without anyone noticing he took off his coat and placed it on the altar. The chimes rang out joyously throughout the land to mark the unselfish giving of a small boy.

I used to hear chimes. I heard them the year one of my sons gave me a tattered piece of construction paper on which he had crayoned two hands folded in prayer and a moving message, "OH COME HOLY SPIRIT!"

I heard them the year I got a shoebox that contained two baseball cards and the gum was still with them.

I heard them the Christmas they all got together and cleaned the garage. They're gone, aren't they? The years of the lace doilies fashioned into snowflakes ... the hands traced in plaster of Paris ... the Christmas trees of pipe cleaners ... the threat spoils that held small candles. They're gone.

The chubby hands that clumsily used up $2 worth of paper to wrap a cork coaster are sophisticated enough to take a number and have the gift wrapped professionally.

The childish decision of when to break the ceramic piggy bank with a hammer to spring the 59 cents is now resolved by a credit card.

The muted thump of pajama-covered feet padding down the stairs to tuck her homemade crumb scrapers beneath the tree has given way to pantyhose and fashion boots to the knee.

It'll be a good Christmas. We'll eat too much. Make a mess in the living room. Throw the warranties into the fire by mistake. Drive the dog crazy taping bows to his tail. Return cookies to the plate with a bite out of them. Listen to Christmas music.

But Lord ... what I would give to bend low and receive a gift of twopicks and library paste and hear the chimes just one more time.

Child On Leash No Pet

Dear Ann: Last weekend we took our family to King's Island. I was concerned about our three-year-old because she's a very active child and I feared she might get lost.

I stuck a length of heavy macrame cord in my purse. When we arrived, I laced it through the belt loops on her jeans and tied it with a knot. The other end I looped around my wrist. Needless to say we were never separated and I had a much better time not having to worry about her safety.

What surprised me was the response of the onlookers. All day long people kept making comments. One woman said, "Maybe she thinks the little girl is a dog."

Don't people realize what could happen to a lost child? During the day, I saw several children being spanked and scolded for wandering off. No one pointed and commented on THAT. I hope you will agree with me, Ann. Please comment. — Playing It Safe In Indianapolis

Dear Safe: I do. As for the onlookers, why concern yourself with them? You did what was best for your child and that's what counts.

Perfect Match

Dear Ann: Tell the 60-year-old widow who signed herself "Mood Indigo" that the "beautiful married man" who played his little love game when they were stuck in the elevator together didn't do it because he thought SHE was "attractive, attractive."

youthful-looking and sexy." He did it because he thought HE was all those things, and she helped him prove it by falling like a ton of cordwood. Tell her if SHE had been his wife, and another woman got stuck in an elevator with him, he would have played the same game with HER. I'll bet the elevator Romeo's wife has watched him shower women with attention ever since they returned from their honeymoon. But she has no fear of losing him because she knows he would never do anything that might upset HIS life.

Mr. "Me First" doesn't care what he does to the women who go gaga over him. How come I'm so smart? I just happen to be another gal who is married to a beautiful man, but I couldn't care less what he does in elevators — or elsewhere. He's a lovely meal-ticket and I'm tired of working. — Mrs. X.

Dear X: Some marriage you've got there, lady. Mr. "Me First" must be an incurable Don Juan and you sound like you have the warmth of a barracuda. My guess is you two deserve each other.

Wants Curves

Dear Miss Landers: I'd appreciate it if you would tell me the names of the states where silicone shots to enlarge a woman's breasts are legal. Also will you please give me the name of a doctor who gives these shots? Thanks a lot. — Flat Faye

Dear Flat: There is NO state in which silicone shots are legal for breast enlargement. This is a dangerous procedure which can cause serious trouble. Silicone IMPLANTS, however, are legal in every state.

Sorry, I never recommend doctors. Call your County Medical Society and ask for the names of two or three plastic surgeons. Then take your pick.

Discover how to be date bait without falling hook, line and sinker. Ann Landers's booklet, "Dating Do's and Don'ts," will help you be more poised and sure of yourself on dates. ### No Chimes This Year

Everything is in readiness. The tree is trimmed. The cards taped to the doorframe. The boxes stacked in glittering disarray under the tree.

Why don't I hear chimes? Remember the small boy who made the chimes ring in a fictional story years ago? As the legend went, the chimes would not ring unless a gift of love was placed on the altar. Kings and men of great wealth placed untold jewels on the altar, but year after year the church remained silent.

Then one Christmas eve, a small child in a tattered coat made his way down the aisle and without anyone noticing he took off his coat and placed it on the altar. The chimes rang out joyously throughout the land to mark the unselfish giving of a small boy.

I used to hear chimes. I heard them the year one of my sons gave me a tattered piece of construction paper on which he had crayoned two hands folded in prayer and a moving message, "OH COME HOLY SPIRIT!"

I heard them the year I got a shoebox that contained two baseball cards and the gum was still with them.

I heard them the Christmas they all got together and cleaned the garage.

They're gone, aren't they? The years of the lace doilies fashioned into snowflakes . . . the hands traced in plaster of Paris . . . the Christmas trees of pipe cleaners . . . the thread spools that held small candles. They're gone.

The chubby hands that clumsily used up $2 worth of paper to wrap a cork coaster are sophisticated enough to take a number and have the gift wrapped professionally.

The childish decision of when to break the ceramic piggy bank with a hammer to spring the 59 cents is now resolved by a credit card.

The muted thump of pajama-covered feet padding down the stairs to tuck her homemade crumb scrapers beneath the tree has given way to pantyhose and fashion boots to the knee.

It'll be a good Christmas. We'll eat too much. Make a mess in the living room. Throw the warranties into the fire by mistake. Drive the dog crazy tapping bows to his tail. Return cookies to the plate with a bite out of them. Listen to Christmas music.

But Lord . . . what I would give to bend low and receive a gift of toothpicks and library paste and hear the chimes just one more time.

Dr. Lester Coleman

Male impotence is a serious factor in the emotional makeup of those who are handicapped by it. Typical of the dozens of letters that I receive is this one, which outlines the magnitude of the problem:

"I am 44 years old and have been divorced for eight years. The divorce was a painful one. For the past eight years I have been afraid to make meaningful contacts with women."

"I have now found someone I wish to marry, but cannot do so because of my fearful dread of being impotent."

"Are there any operations that can be performed to give me another chance at a normal life?" — Mr. H. C. S., Wash.

Dear Mr. S.: The impact of a divorce may affect the emotional competence of a person to a point where potency is temporarily impaired.

When there is no obvious organic disease, before entertaining a surgical approach to impotence, specialists in the field make many psychological evaluations as part of a screening process. Concentrated psychotherapy is undertaken.

A complete evaluation of the social structure is made. Marital disharmony and emotional conflicts are examined in an effort to pinpoint possible psychological reasons for impotence.

When all of these have been exhausted, and no benefit accrues to the patient, then the possibility of a surgical approach to this problem is considered.

At the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., and in other major hospitals in the United States, the surgical management for impotence is being carefully studied.

A number of operations have been designed, using an inflatable plastic penis as an implant.

The results of the implantation have been most satisfactory

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It won't count against you not to make all the Christmas parties today. In fact, your system may be spared some anguish if you skip a few!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If something nice comes your way today, take care who's listening when you talk about it. You may unwittingly hurt the feelings of another less fortunate.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Even though someone you love is out of sight, they shouldn't be out of your mind today. Let them know you're thinking of them.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) There's a valid reason that someone you're fond of may be more generous towards another than he is to you. Don't fret. You'll learn why later.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your mate is more likely to be filled with the Christmas spirit than you are today. Just don't let on you're not altogether with it and you'll have as much fun!

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Before you get too much into the festive mood today, attend to those few little tasks. Then you can play with a clear conscience.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Circumstances may result in some being alone and feeling left out today. If you learn of such a person, make sure to include him or her in your festive plans. SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) It's important to treat all members of the family with equal good grace today. Don't overindulge some while turning your back on others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Have a good time today, but if you've absorbed too much holiday cheer, turn the keys over to someone else. You'll be glad tomorrow.

North really scraped the bottom of the barrel to dig up his raise to two spades. Fortunately, South had a mighty sound rebid to the game contract, so there was some play for it.

South won the diamond lead with his ace and noted that East had dropped the eight spot. It looked like the start of an echo to show a doubleton. There didn't seem to be much chance of getting a discard on the 10 that could be established.

However, South found a way to give himself an extra chance. He cashed his ace and jack of trumps and then led his jack of diamonds.

West took his queen and shifted to the ten of clubs. This held and a second club went to East's jack. East led a third club.

South ruffed; entered dummy with the queen of trumps; discarded his deuce of hearts on the 10 diamonds and made the rest of the tricks by means of a successful heart finesse.

His play of drawing two rounds of trumps succeeded because East was short in diamonds, but it risked nothing. If East had been able to trump the third diamond, South would overruff and still be able to make his contract if hearts broke 3-3.

High Court Ruling Makes Zoning Appeals Tougher

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Local governments may have more power to withstand attacks on their zoning powers under a Michigan Supreme Court ruling.

The decision issued Wednesday makes it tougher for a landowner to overturn a zoning restriction for a desired development. It puts more of a burden on him to prove the local government was wrong in zoning it against such a development.

The decision upheld a Livingston County Circuit Court ruling which dismissed a challenge to a Tyrone Township zoning ordinance. That ordinance prohibited development of a mobile home park on land zoned for agricultural residential use.

In upholding the lower court, the Supreme Court laid down a new rule on when such a zoning law can be overturned.

It said the challenger must show there is no reasonable governmental interest being upheld by the zoning classification, or the zoning must be shown to be unreasonable because it is purely arbitrary and bars other types of land use for no good reason.

In the past, zoning cases have been decided on recent Supreme Court opinions saying that a proposed use of land should be permitted if reasonable under all the circumstances in the case. It did not matter whether the zoning classification was unreasonable or not.

The old standard — set in 1973 — made it hard for local governments to defend themselves against court suits challenging their zoning classifications.

The new guidelines are expected to provide a better defense for their zoning plans.

Justice John Fitzgerald and Chief Justice Thomas G. Kavanagh dissented, saying the court should not overturn its own rulings after such a short time. It said the case should have been decided on the old standard.

Motorcycle Helmet Law Is Upheld

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan motorists lost a round Wednesday in their battle over laws requiring them to wear helmets.

The State Supreme Court ruled that such laws may infringe on personal liberty, but such infringements are permitted when the law is in the best interest of society as a whole.

The ruling upheld a Court of Appeals decision which reversed lower court rulings striking down a helmet ordinance in Adrian.

The high court said such ordinances do not have to be limited to accident prevention, but also may extend to laws designed to reduce the consequences of accidents.

"More is involved than the unfettered freedom of the cyclist," the court said. "For example, the ordinance benefits the driver of a vehicle which may accidentally collide with a motorcyclist." It argued that if the helmet worked, not only is the cyclist still alive, but the automobile driver has not killed anyone."

Motorcyclists across Michigan have protested a state law which also requires the wearing of helmets, calling it an infringement of their civil rights. A bill to repeal the state law was introduced last year, but died with the end of session.

Adrian District Court had dismissed a citation against Glenn Poucher for not wearing a helmet, and Lenawee County Circuit Court affirmed the action, but it was later reversed by the appeals court.

In upholding the Court of Appeals, the Supreme Court rejected arguments that the ordinance was an invasion of individual rights.

Two Nominees To Quit Clubs

ATLANTA (AP) — Two of President-elect Carter's top administration appointees say they will resign from private clubs which have no black members.

Atty. Gen.-designate Griffin Bell said Wednesday he was resigning his membership in the Piedmont Driving Club and the Capital City Club, both in Atlanta, and the Oglethorpe Club in Savannah, Ga.

Banker Bert Lance, named to head the Office of Management and Budget, said Wednesday he would drop his membership in the Piedmont Driving Club, the Capital City Club and the Atlanta Athletic Club "at the proper time."

Grand Jury Digs Into ITT-CIA Deal In Chile

WASHINGTON (AP) — The CIA knew that an executive of International Telephone & Telegraph Co. would give false testimony about his relationship with the spy agency when he was called before a Senate subcommittee investigating U.S. actions in Chile.

The ITT executive, Harold V. Hendrix, is cooperating with a federal grand jury that is probing a possible conspiracy involving CIA and ITT officials. The jury is investigating allegations of fraud and perjury arising from the officials' testimony about U.S. activities in Chile, it was learned.

Targets of the grand jury investigation are known to be former CIA Director Richard Helms and ITT chairman Harold Gense.

Hendrix already has pleaded to a misdemeanor charge and received a suspended sentence for withholding information about his covert relationship with the CIA from the Senate subcommittee on multi-national corporations.

A Justice Department lawyer told a federal court in Miami last month that Hendrix, former director of public relations for ITT in Latin America, informed the CIA in 1972 of "his intention to withhold from the committee the fact that he had been in contact with the CIA."

The attorney, Walter W. May, added that Hendrix "did indeed withhold the fact" when questioned under oath by the Senate subcommittee, which investigated efforts by the CIA and ITT in 1970 to block election of Marxist Salvador Allende as Chile's president.

Lawrence Houston, who was general counsel of the CIA at the time, acknowledged in a telephone interview that the agency knew in advance of Hendrix's intention to testify falsely. "I thought we advised him from our point of view that there was no reason he couldn't say he had had a relationship with us," Houston said.

Asked why the CIA did not inform the subcommittee that Hendrix had in fact lied, Houston said the panel had been given documents that proved the inaccuracy of Hendrix's statements.

However, Jerome Levinson, chief counsel for the subcommittee, insisted that the CIA had not given any indication, either on or off the record, of its relationship with Hendrix.

May made his remarks Nov. 30 in the U.S. District Court for Southern Florida where Hendrix pleaded guilty to the misdemeanor charge of withholding information from Congress. The transcript of the proceedings makes clear that Hendrix was allowed to plead guilty to the misdemeanor charge and received a suspended sentence in return for his cooperation in the Justice Department's probe of possible perjury committed by CIA and ITT officials before the Senate panel.

Alger Prosecutor Vows Going To Court To Block Deer Hunt

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Alger County prosecutor says he'll go to court to seek a halt to a post-season deer hunt the Natural Resources Commission has refused to cancel.

The commission voted 6-0 Wednesday to go ahead with plans for the controversial special 90-day hunt in the Beaver Basin north of Munising in the Upper Peninsula.

After hearing of the decision, Alger County Prosecutor William Werner vowed to seek a court injunction to stop the hunt.

The commission ordered the season earlier this year as a way to kill 300 deer in what it called an over-populated area. The season would start in January and last 90 days or until 300 deer were killed.

The herd grew too large for its natural food supply, the commission said, because of a feeding program carried on in the area by a private firm which once owned the land.

The controversial proposal has aroused the ire of Upper Peninsula residents and legislators who call it a slaughter. They say there are better ways to solve the over-population problem, if the problem does in fact exist.

Some Alger County businesses say they'll refuse to provide gasoline, food or lodging to hunters participating in the season.

The commission's vote Wednesday came despite a recommendation by the state legislature that the season be cancelled and the state establish a feeding program for the deer instead.

DNR biologists said many of the 650 deer in the 45 square mile region will starve this winter unless some are killed by hunters.

The commission has received veiled threats from powerful legislators concerning the Department of Natural Resources budget appropriations. Supporters of the hunt told the commissioners they being subjected to political blackmail and should not knuckle under.

Detroit Gets People Mover Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Persons in Detroit and four other major U.S. cities may soon be making block-to-block hops aboard special "people movers."

Federal money will pay for the systems as part of a study to see if mini-transit systems can bring central city areas back to life.

Although basic designs are not completed, the downtown people movers are expected to be similar to systems already in use at some airports and amusement parks.

Secretary of Transportation William T. Coleman Jr. announced Wednesday that special grants will go to four cities for testing the people mover projects: Cleveland, $41 million; Houston, $33 million; St. Paul, $45 million; and Los Angeles, $100 million.

In addition, the secretary said the mass transit agency will fund a people mover for Detroit as part of a $600-million transit commitment to that city announced last October.

Los Angeles also will get another $25 million from federal highway funds for parking and highway access support for the downtown people movers.

The cities competed with seven others for the Urban Mass Transportation Administration funds.

Moreover, Coleman said the Transportation Department would commit up to $600 million for Miami's rapid transit system. If that city chooses, some of that money could go for a demonstration people mover project.

People movers can be of a variety of simple designs, but are usually driverless vehicles that operate over exclusive guideways, either on elevated structures, at street level or below ground.

The other finalist cities were Baltimore, Indianapolis, Jacksonville, Fla., Norfolk, Va., and St. Louis.

It's News TODAY

Botswana Draw Into Fight

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Botswana, a country without an army, is being drawn into the expanding civil war between Rhodesia's ruling white minority and black nationalist guerrillas. Rhodesian forces launched a campaign last month against guerrillas operating in southwest Rhodesia along the Botswana border. Botswana, which has a police force of 500 men for a desert country the size of France, has protested that Rhodesian security forces repeatedly cross the border. The Rhodesian government denied this on Wednesday and offered to discuss the situation with the Botswana government.

CB License Fees Suspended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hang on to that $4, good buddy. You can get your CB radio license without it. The Federal Communications Commission doesn't want it, even if the instructions with your new Christmas CB radio say to send it in for your citizens' band radio license. Those instructions are out of date. The commission announced Wednesday that it had voted 7 to 0 to suspend all of its fee collections, including those from CB radio operators.

Further Arms Curbs Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Harold Brown, named President-elect Carter's defense secretary, has called for a U.S. Soviet nuclear arms limitation agreement that would curb improvements in weapons as well as their numbers. This is not the case under the current strategic arms limitation talks, or SALT, agreement, so both countries have been pushing ahead with development of more effective strategic missiles and bombers since that agreement was signed in 1972.

Fukuda Tops One Hurdle

Incentive To Cut Costs?

WASHINGTON (AP) — One reason for the explosive increase in health care costs may be that no one has a direct incentive to hold the costs down. That was the conclusion of a 200-page study released Wednesday by the government's Council on Wage and Price Stability. The report forecast that a national health insurance plan would be no help in holding costs down. The reason, the council said, is the incentive problem. Already, 92 per cent of hospital bills and 66 per cent of doctor bills are paid by insurance companies or the government. It said that none of the principals feel they must hold costs down.

UAW Wins Victory In South

MONROE, La. (AP) — The United Auto Workers emerged victorious Wednesday in a crucial union organizing drive at a southern General Motors Corp. plant.

It was the union's first victory in three attempts to organize southern plants.

Union officials say the vote is a promising sign for future UAW organizing drives in the South.

Workers at GM's new Guide headlamp plant voted 323-280 in favor of letting the UAW be their bargaining agent. Five ballots were challenged.

The results must be certified by the National Labor Relations Board.

The vote is the first at a GM plant since the nation's largest automaker signed a neutrality pledge promising not to take sides in UAW organizing campaigns. Irving Bluestone, a UAW vice president and head of the union's GM department, called the outcome "extremely gratifying."

The factory is one of eight plants GM has opened or begun to build in the South since 1973.

The pay scale at the Monroe plant averages about $5 an hour, good by local standards. But UAW organizers argued that the scale was about $2 less than the union scale at GM's plants in the North.

CALIFANO IS HEW CHOICE

Carter Completes New Cabinet

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — President-elect Carter is preparing to complete his cabinet by naming Washington lawyer Joseph Califano Jr. to head the sprawling Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Carter scheduled a nationally broadcast news conference today to introduce Califano, a key adviser to Lyndon Johnson and one of those behind Johnson's Great Society programs.

The President-elect also was expected to name former Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger as his new energy czar and to reveal his choice for a top intelligence post.

The 10 a.m. news conference was scheduled to be carried by ABC-TV.

In a 45-minute interview with three reporters on Wednesday, Carter hinted that he planned to announce his choice to be director of central intelligence, indicating that the holder of this post might not play the customary dual role of heading the CIA.

There had been speculation that the intelligence post to be announced would go to Theodore Sorenson, a key White House aide to President John F. Kennedy. However, sources here suggested Wednesday that Sorenson would not be involved in today's announcement.

The President-elect talked to the three reporters aboard his small Air Force jet during the return flight to Georgia from Chicago, where he attended funeral services for Mayor Richard Daley, who died Monday.

Shortly after returning home to Plains, Carter was driven to a hospital in nearby Americus to see his mother, Lillian Carter, who had been admitted for what an spokesman called "a few days of examination and rest" after she complained of not feeling well. Mrs. Carter is 78.

Carter, during his aerial interview, said he takes at face value indirect assurances he has received from Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev that the Soviets will not try to test him in his first month in office, as was the case with the late Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Kennedy. But Carter added, "I'll be prepared if my belief is ill-founded."

Asked if he might attend an economic summit meeting of leaders of major non-Communist industrialized nations to be held in Japan later next year, he replied, "Possibly."

He said he will keep overseas trips to a minimum in 1977, but he indicated he might welcome one at which he could get to know a number of important leaders of other countries.

Carter said he expects to be able to take command of foreign policy and national security "without any loss of time" on inauguration day, but necessarily faces the problem of meeting foreign leaders.

The incoming president said he plans a brief inaugural ceremony and will deliver a relatively short inaugural address.

On other topics, he said:

—He intends to give Vice President-elect Walter F. Mondale a heavy policy-oriented work load and a White House office, and probably will dispatch Mondale on more overseas trips next year than he himself undertakes.

—The White House staff will be cut sharply and offices in the mansion itself will be shorn of "all those who don't need direct access to me."

—Daughter Amy wants to have the White House Press Center torn apart so she can use the old indoor swimming pool under its floor.

Oil Request Fails Ecology Test

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A request to drill for oil near the banks of the Black River in Pigeon River Country State Forest has been rejected by the Department of Natural Resources.

The drilling permit application by Michigan Oil Co. was the first since a November court decision upheld the state's authority to allow drilling in the wilderness area.

DNR Director Howard Tanner said Wednesday he rejected the application because it fell short of the environmental standards agreed to by the state and three other oil companies last June.

A package of 10 more applications by the other companies — Shell Oil Co., Amoco and Northern Michigan Exploration Co. — is expected within a week, the DNR said.

Michigan Oil wanted to drill within a quarter mile of the Black River, which is too close, said environmental specialist Don Inman of the DNR.

Inman said Michigan Oil chose not to become a party to the June 11 limited-drilling agreement negotiated by Tanner and the three-company group headed by Shell. That agreement touched off criticism and a lawsuit by environmentalists who wanted to block all drilling in the wilderness area.

An Ingham Circuit Court judge upheld the agreement last month, however, calling it a "responsible, workable plan for resource management."

Botswana Draw Into Fight

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Botswana, a country without an army, is being drawn into the expanding civil war between Rhodesia's ruling white minority and black nationalist guerrillas. Rhodesian forces launched a campaign last month against guerrillas operating in southwest Rhodesia along the Botswana border. Botswana, which has a police force of 500 men for a desert country the size of France, has protested that Rhodesian security forces repeatedly cross the border. The Rhodesian government denied this on Wednesday and offered to discuss the situation with the Botswana government.

CB License Fees Suspended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hang on to that $4, good buddy. You can get your CB radio license without it. The Federal Communications Commission doesn't want it, even if the instructions with your new Christmas CB radio say to send it in for your citizens' band radio license. Those instructions are out of date. The commission announced Wednesday that it had voted 7 to 0 to suspend all of its fee collections, including those from CB radio operators.

Further Arms Curbs Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Harold Brown, named President-elect Carter's defense secretary, has called for a U.S. Soviet nuclear arms limitation agreement that would curb improvements in weapons as well as their numbers. This is not the case under the current strategic arms limitation talks, or SALT, agreement, so both countries have been pushing ahead with development of more effective strategic missiles and bombers since that agreement was signed in 1972.

Fukuda Tops One Hurdle

TOKYO (AP) — Takeo Fukuda, the wealthy 71-year-old leader of one of the Liberal-Democratic party's big factions, was named president of the ruling conservative party today, making him almost certain to be chosen prime minister at a special session of parliament Friday. Fukuda, a longtime aspirant to the government's top post, was chosen by acclamation at a meeting of all members of the party in the Diet, Japan's parliament. He was the only candidate to succeed Prime Minister Takeo Miki, 69, who is resigning because of the Liberal-Democrats' setback in the parliamentary elections Dec. 5.

Incentive To Cut Costs?

WASHINGTON (AP) — One reason for the explosive increase in health care costs may be that no one has a direct incentive to hold the costs down. That was the conclusion of a 200-page study released Wednesday by the government's Council on Wage and Price Stability. The report forecast that a national health insurance plan would be no help in holding costs down. The reason, the council said, is the incentive problem. Already, 92 per cent of hospital bills and 66 per cent of doctor bills are paid by insurance companies or the government. It said that none of the principals feel they must hold costs down.

UAW Wins Victory In South

MONROE, La. (AP) — The United Auto Workers emerged victorious Wednesday in a crucial union organizing drive at a southern General Motors Corp. plant.

It was the union's first victory in three attempts to organize southern plants.

Union officials say the vote is a promising sign for future UAW organizing drives in the South.

Workers at GM's new Guide headlamp plant voted 323-280 in favor of letting the UAW be their bargaining agent. Five ballots were challenged.

The results must be certified by the National Labor Relations Board.

The vote is the first at a GM plant since the nation's largest automaker signed a neutrality pledge promising not to take sides in UAW organizing campaigns. Irving Bluestone, a UAW vice president and head of the union's GM department, called the outcome "extremely gratifying."

The factory is one of eight plants GM has opened or begun to build in the South since 1973.

The pay scale at the Monroe plant averages about $5 an hour, good by local standards. But UAW organizers argued that the scale was about $2 less than the union scale at GM's plants in the North.

CALIFANO IS HEW CHOICE Carter Completes New Cabinet

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — President-elect Carter is preparing to complete his cabinet by naming Washington lawyer Joseph Califano Jr., to head the sprawling Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Carter scheduled a nationally broadcast news conference today to introduce Califano, a key adviser to Lyndon Johnson and one of those behind Johnson's Great Society programs.

The President-elect also was expected to name former Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger as his new energy czar and to reveal his choice for a top intelligence post.

The 10 a.m. news conference

was scheduled to be carried by ABC-TV.

In a 45-minute interview with three reporters on Wednesday, Carter hinted that he planned to announce his choice to be director of central intelligence, indicating that the holder of this post might not play the customary dual role of heading the CIA.

There had been speculation that the intelligence post to be announced would go to Theodore Sorenson, a key White House aide to President John F. Kennedy. However, sources here suggested Wednesday that Sorenson would not be involved in today's announcement.

The President-elect talked to the three reporters aboard his small Air Force jet during the return flight to Georgia from Chicago, where he attended funeral services for Mayor Richard Daley, who died Monday.

Shortly after returning home to Plains, Carter was driven to a hospital in nearby Americus to see his mother, Lillian Carter, who had been admitted for what a spokesman called "a few days of examination and rest" after she complained of not feeling well. Mrs. Carter is 78.

Carter, during his aerial interview, said he takes at face value indirect assurances he has received from Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev that the Soviets will not try to test him in his first month in office, as was the case with the late Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Kennedy. But Carter added, "I'll be prepared if my belief is ill-founded."

Asked if he might attend an economic summit meeting of leaders of major non-Communist industrialized nations to be held in Japan later next year, he replied, "Possibly."

He said he will keep overseas trips to a minimum in 1977, but he indicated he might welcome one at which he could get to know a number of important leaders of other countries.

Carter said he expects to be able to take command of foreign policy and national security "without any loss of time" on inauguration day, but necessarily faces the problem of meeting foreign leaders.

The incoming president said he plans a brief inaugural ceremony and will deliver a relatively short inaugural address.

On other topics, he said:

—He intends to give Vice President-elect Walter F. Mondale a heavy policy-oriented work load and a White House office, and probably will dispatch Mondale on more overseas trips next year than he himself undertakes.

—The White House staff will be cut sharply and offices in the mansion itself will be shorn of "all those who don't need direct access to me."

—Daughter Amy wants to have the White House Press Center torn apart so she can use the old indoor swimming pool under its floor.

Oil Request Fails Ecology Test

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A request to drill for oil near the banks of the Black River in Pigeon River Country State Forest has been rejected by the Department of Natural Resources.

The drilling permit application by Michigan Oil Co. was the first since a November court decision upheld the state's authority to allow drilling in the wilderness area.

DNR Director Howard Tanner said Wednesday he rejected the application because it fell short of the environmental standards agreed to by the state and three other oil companies last June.

A package of 10 more applications by the other companies — Shell Oil Co., Amoco and Northern Michigan Exploration Co. — is expected within a week, the DNR said.

Michigan Oil wanted to drill within a quarter mile of the Black River, which is too close, said environmental specialist Don Inman of the DNR.

Inman said Michigan Oil chose not to become a party to the June 11 limited-drilling agreement negotiated by Tanner and the three-company group headed by Shell. That agreement touched off criticism and a lawsuit by environmentalists who wanted to block all drilling in the wilderness area.

Official Charges Oil Spill Didn't Have To Happen

BOSTON (AP) — Strongly criticizing the Coast Guard's handling of the stranded oil tanker Argo Merchant, Massachusetts' lieutenant governor says the worst oil spill in U.S. history "did not have to happen." Thomas P. O'Neill III told a congressional hearing into the spill Wednesday night that he was "incredulous" that the Coast Guard had no specially trained personnel ready to deal with such a grounding.

Coast Guard divers were to attempt to examine the tanks of the split-up tanker today to see whether any of its 7.6 million gallons of thick oil remained unspilled.

As the oil drifted out to sea in a conical slick more than 100 miles long, scientists began studying its effects, fishermen dreaded financial ruin and the state cried for help.

Only the bow section of the 64-foot Liberian ship remained afloat over a shoal off Nantucket Island. It was settling into the sea at a 40-degree angle and was expected to disappear sometime today, according to a Coast Guard spokesman.

The middle section was out of sight, and the stern, firmly embedded in the sandy shoal, was barely visible above the waves.

The National Weather Service predicted relatively calm seas up to five feet in the area today. Winds were expected to shift slightly to the southwest and reach 15 to 20 knots.

Those conditions, the Coast Guard said, would keep the oil moving away from the beaches of Nantucket, Martha's Vineyard and Cape Cod and onto the rich fishing grounds of the Georges Bank.

The vessel, which split amidships Tuesday in stormy seas up to 15 feet, divided again Wednesday, forward of the pilot house.

The Argo Merchant ran onto a shoal 27 miles southeast of Nantucket 10 days ago enroute from Venezuela to Salem, Mass.

Captain George Papadopoulos gave a deposition behind closed doors Wednesday on the circumstances of the grounding. He testified in two civil suits by Cape Cod fishermen who ask $120 million in damages they claim the spill will cause to fishing grounds.

A spokesman for Gov.

Michael S. Dukakis said federal officials were asked to provide relief for the economic losses expected from the spill. President Ford also was asked to declare a state of emergency in the area to make those affected eligible for federal funds.

Estimates of the damage were $180 million to the state's fishing industry and $75 million to tourism.

Officials say no real damage has been done to the Georges fishing area yet because the oil has touched only the perimeter of the 18-million acre bank.

Birds, as well as fish, are susceptible to the oil, but one federal official on Nantucket said the wind direction has been favorable.

The oil spill was the fifth largest ever, and scientists converged on the area to study its effects. "I know this probably sounds terrible," said Sal Testaverde, a biologist at the New England Aquarium, "but this is an incredible opportunity."

The Coast Guard said Wednesday a crewman, identified as M. Labir or M. Sabir, of Pakistan, claimed the ship had been deliberately run aground with the knowledge of the owners. An M. Sabir was on the list of crewmen provided by the Coast Guard.

The allegation has been referred to the Liberian government maritime office in New York for investigation. The U.S. government has no authority to investigate except by request of the Liberian government because the spill occurred outside the 12-mile limit.

More Snow, Wind Sock Southwestern Michigan

BY AL AREND
Staff Writer

Strong winds accompanied by an additional one to five inches of new snow hit southwestern Michigan during the night and early this morning causing some drifting and making all roads snow covered and slippery.

The northwesterly wind averaged 31 m.p.h. at 3:30 a.m. at the Cook Nuclear plant. Bridgman, and combined with ground temperatures in the high teens equaled a wind chill factor of minus 18 degrees. The traffic control tower at Ross field, the Twin Cities airport, reported visibility "very poor" with winds averaging 25 m.p.h. and gusting up to 42 m.p.h.

St. Matthews Lutheran school in Benton Harbor was reported closed today due to the weather. All public schools in the area are now on Christmas vacation, while most other parochial schools remained open today.

At 9:30 a.m. today, the tower at Ross field, the twin cities airport, reported visibility to be one-quarter mile, below the minimum suggested for landing. But tower officials added the runway was clear for landing and they hoped the blowing snow would subside in order to allow the scheduled landing of a North Central Airlines flight at about 11 a.m.

A North Central flight was able to depart from the airport at 6:30 a.m. today.

Winds at the airport were reported averaging 25 miles an hour with gusts up to 42 miles an hour.

Tonight's forecast calls for snow showers likely. The snow showers are expected to end by Friday morning. Low tonight is expected to be near 10. Friday's forecast calls for a chance of snow by afternoon with the high in the low to mid-20's.

Winds are expected to calm down to 10 to 15 m.p.h. tonight, and then switch from the northwest to a southerly direction Friday. Probability of measurable snow is 60 per cent tonight and 40 per cent Friday.

The heaviest snowfall during the night was reported inland in Van Buren county where Paul Kaiser, Van Buren county road

Robert Rueckert Collapses, Dies In SJ Dwelling

St. Joseph firefighters reported they used a resuscitator to administer oxygen to a Berrien Springs man, but were unable to get him breathing again after he suffered an apparent heart attack yesterday.

Firemen reported Robert J. Rueckert, 74, of 122 Hill Crest drive, Berrien Springs, was pronounced dead on arrival at Mercy hospital.

According to firemen, Rueckert was working in the basement of a home he owned at 3 Ridgeway. Firemen responded to the scene about 5:15 p.m. after they were called by residents of the dwelling, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Simmons. Fireman said when they arrived Rueckert was not breathing and a pulse could not be detected. He was taken to Mercy hospital by ambulance.

Mr. Rueckert was born Dec. 3, 1902, in Minnesota and had resided in the area 23 years. He was a carpenter by trade and also owned and operated a laundry and dry cleaning store in New Carlisle, Ind.

Surviving are his widow, the former Marian Nelson; a son, Keith Rueckert, Atlanta, Ga.; a daughter, Mrs. Carol Ann Rudeant, Berrien Springs; a sister, Mrs. Rose Booth, Lake Lillian, Minn.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Monday in the Berrien Springs Seventh-day Adventist church. Burial will be in Rose Hill cemetery.

Friends may call at the Alfred Mayhew funeral home, Berrien Springs, from 3 until 9 p.m. Saturday and on Sunday from noon until 9 p.m.

Memorials may be made to "Your Story Hour."

POLICE ROUNDUP

This Dinner Fork Is Deadly Weapon

Benton township police said Bobbie Anderson, 29, Benton Harbor, was arrested early today on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, a dinner fork.

Police said they were called to the Joann Anderson residence, 425 Urbandale avenue, about 3:30 a.m. on a report of a fight. Mrs. Anderson, 27, sustained apparently minor wounds for which she sought her own treatment, police said. The incident stemmed from an argument between a man and a woman.

Anderson, 795 Thresher avenue, identified by police as Mrs. Anderson's estranged husband, was booked at Berrien county jail.

A car, tools and tires were among four thefts reported Wednesday and early today, Twin Cities area police said.

Benton township police said the 1970 Plymouth of Effie Razor, 605 Columbus avenue, Benton Harbor, was reported stolen from where it was parked in the 900 block of East Main street about 2:15 a.m. today.

Also reported stolen to township police were four tires and runs from the Jeep of Vernon Schoenfeldt, Millbury, parked at his home.

Benton Harbor police said Cleon Lewis, 522 Clay street, reported a watch, radio, man's wedding ring and assorted hand tools, all valued at $160, were stolen from his residence.

Leonard Krone, 1558 West Shawnee road, Baroda, told Baroda-Lake township police that $250 in hand tools in a tool box were stolen from his pickup truck parked at Baroda TV & Appliance center, 9004 First street, Baroda.

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — When Washington Gov. Dan Evans leaves political life next month, he apparently will become "Mr. President."

he that stands it now, deserves the love and thanks of man and woman... No summer soldiers these."

The words are Thomas Paine's, written as he accompanied Washington on the humiliating flight across New Jersey. They were published in a pamphlet entitled "The American Crisis" in Philadelphia on Dec. 19.

Washington ordered copies rushed the 25 miles to his camp and read at every corporal's watch.

"... But he that stands it now deserves the love and thanks of man and woman."

The words drift back. "No summer soldiers these." With each stroke, with each step, they ring out in soldiers' souls. The cadence quickens. The walking corpses raise their heads.

In Trenton, Col. Johann Rall is asleep, numbed by Christmas cheer. Crumpled in his jacket pocket is a note from a Pennsylvania farmer telling of Washington's advancing army.

The colonel, intent on his luck at cards when the note was delivered, will read it after his surrender.

The sket turns back to snow. The Americans have covered the nine miles between the river and Trenton. The sun is up. Shots ring out.

Col. Rall is awakened and advised to flee. "Fudge. These country clowns cannot whip us," he replies.

The battle rages for two hours. The Hessians throw down their arms. Not a single American has been killed. The country clowns have won.

They will go on to take Princeton, survive another bitter winter at Valley Forge, before the ultimate victory at Yorktown.

Husband Skips Out With Burial Funds

DALLAS (AP) — A woman who received contributions from around the world to help bury the body of an infant she found in a trash bin says her husband has disappeared, along with $1,100 in donations. Donnis Baldree said Wednesday that she and her two young daughters haven't seen her husband Walter since a few days after the baby's funeral Nov. 11. Police and local newspapers have continued to forward donations from sympathetic readers to the couple since the story was reported Nov. 8. Police said they delivered $165 just this week.

The couple named the baby "Snow White," and Mrs. Baldree said she pawned a diamond ring to buy flowers for the funeral. She said other arrangements were financed by donations. She said her ring is still in lock and she will use the money her husband didn't take "to scrape together a decent Christmas for my daughters." After Mrs. Baldree found the baby in a trash bin wrapped in a plastic bag, she said she was determined to give it a "proper burial." Police have not determined who the baby's parents were.

SJ Good Fellows Close In On Record

The St. Joseph Area Good Fellow fund has pulled within $235 of catching last year's record total of $5,743.57, with two days, today and tomorrow, still left for contributions.

A total of $97 was received for the fund today. The Twin Cities Area Newcomers club contributed $15, the Rev. Robert F. Andrews, $5 and James Boothby III, $2.

BH Good Fellows Gifts Go To 1,500

The gifts of Benton Harbor Area Good Fellows have gone out to some 1,500 people in the Benton Harbor area.

The Good Fellows' books at The Herald-Palladium show that checks for $8 each were sent to 449 needy elderly so they can obtain the amenities of Christmas.

There are checks totaling $850 for places where elderly live to make their Christmas more enjoyable. These gifts went to Harbor Towers, Plaza Manor, Carson's Retirement Home, Claremont Nursing Home, and Bry-Fern Rest Home.

Also, Benton Harbor Area Good Fellows have provided gift certificates at stores for 194 deserving families with 613 people. These may be used for clothing and toys.

Berrien Springs Slates Decision On Grant Bid

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien Springs village council last night said it will determine Jan. 3 the exact amount to be sought under the federal community development grant program for fiscal year 1977-78.

Consultant Leslie Cripps, of Cripps and Associates, Berrien Springs, is to return to next month's meeting with specific amounts for several different projects the council hopes to fund if the grant is approved, Clerk Wade Gorham said.

Last night's council session was a special meeting, and included the second of two public hearings required under the federal program to seek public opinion on what projects could possibly be funded. No one attended the hearing.

Proposed projects mentioned by the council included rehabilitation of housing, additional downtown parking space, a storm drain at Hamilton street and US-31, additional sidewalks lowest of four bids on the project. The work will be funded with the community development grant. The bids were received Monday night.

In other areas, the council approved formation of a committee to study the possibility of building senior citizen housing at the site of the now demolished old junior high school building which faces the courthouse square.

Yerington Concrete, Benton Harbor, was awarded a contract to demolish four houses at a cost of $2,670. The amount was the

Official Charges Oil Spill Didn't Have To Happen

BOSTON (AP) — Strongly criticizing the Coast Guard's handling of the stranded oil tanker Argo Merchant, Massachusetts' lieutenant governor says the worst oil spill in U.S. history "did not have to happen." Thomas P. O'Neill III told a congressional hearing into the spill Wednesday night that he was "incredulous" that the Coast Guard had no specially trained personnel ready to deal with such a grounding.

Coast Guard divers were to attempt to examine the tanks of the split-up tanker today to see whether any of its 7.6 million gallons of thick oil remained unspilled.

As the oil drifted out to sea in a conical slick more than 100 miles long, scientists began studying its effects, fishermen dreaded financial ruin and the state cried for help.

Only the bow section of the 64-foot Liberian ship remained afloat over a shoal off Nantucket Island. It was settling into the sea at a 40-degree angle and was expected to disappear sometime today, according to a Coast Guard spokesman.

The middle section was out of sight, and the stern, firmly embedded in the sandy shoal, was barely visible above the waves.

The National Weather Service predicted relatively calm seas up to five feet in the area today. Winds were expected to shift slightly to the southwest and reach 15 to 20 knots.

Those conditions, the Coast Guard said, would keep the oil moving away from the beaches of Nantucket, Martha's Vineyard and Cape Cod and onto the rich fishing grounds of the Georges Bank.

The vessel, which split amidships Tuesday in stormy seas up to 15 feet, divided again Wednesday, forward of the pilot house.

The Argo Merchant ran onto a shoal 27 miles southeast of Nantucket 10 days ago enroute from Venezuela to Salem, Mass.

Captain George Papadopoulos gave a deposition behind closed doors Wednesday on the circumstances of the grounding. He testified in two civil suits by Cape Cod fishermen who ask $120 million in damages they claim the spill will cause to fishing grounds.

A spokesman for Gov.

Michael S. Dukakis said federal officials were asked to provide relief for the economic losses expected from the spill. President Ford also was asked to declare a state of emergency in the area to make those affected eligible for federal funds.

Estimates of the damage were $160 million to the state's fishing industry and $75 million to tourism.

Officials say no real damage has been done to the Georges fishing area yet because the oil has touched only the perimeter of the 16-million acre bank.

Birds, as well as fish, are susceptible to the oil, but one federal official on Nantucket said the wind direction has been favorable.

The oil spill was the fifth largest ever, and scientists converged on the area to study its effects. "I know this probably sounds terrible," said Sal Testaverde, a biologist at the New England Aquarium, "but this is an incredible opportunity."

The Coast Guard said Wednesday a crewman, identified as M. Labir or M. Sabir, of Pakistan, claimed the ship had been deliberately run aground with the knowledge of the owners. An M. Sabir was on the list of crewmen provided by the Coast Guard.

The allegation has been referred to the Liberian government maritime office in New York for investigation. The U.S. government has no authority to investigate except by request of the Liberian government because the spill occurred outside the 12-mile limit.

More Snow, Wind Sock Southwestern Michigan

BY AL AREND
Staff Writer

Strong winds accompanied by an additional one to five inches of new snow hit southwestern Michigan during the night and early this morning causing some drifting and making all roads snow covered and slippery.

The northwesterly wind averaged 31 m.p.h. at 8:30 a.m. at the Cook Nuclear plant, Bridgman, and combined with ground temperatures in the high teens equaled a wind chill factor of minus 18 degrees. The traffic control tower at Ross field, the Twin Cities airport, reported visibility "very poor" with winds averaging 25 m.p.h. and gusting up to 42 m.p.h.

St. Matthews Lutheran school in Benton Harbor was reported closed today due to the weather. All public schools in the area are now on Christmas vacation, while most other parochial schools remained open today.

At 9:30 a.m. today, the tower at Ross Field, the twin cities airport, reported visibility to be one-quarter mile, below the minimum suggested for landing. But tower officials added the runway was clear for landing and they hoped the blowing snow would subside in order to allow the scheduled landing of a North Central Airlines flight at about 11 a.m.

A North Central flight was able to depart from the airport at 6:30 a.m. today.

Winds at the airport were reported averaging 25 miles an hour with gusts up to 42 miles an hour.

Tonight's forecast calls for snow showers likely. The snow showers are expected to end by Friday morning. Low tonight is expected to be near 10. Friday's forecast calls for a chance of snow by afternoon with the high in the low to mid-20's.

Winds are expected to calm down to 10 to 15 m.p.h. tonight, and then switch from the northwest to a southerly direction Friday. Probability of measurable snow is 60 per cent tonight and 40 per cent Friday.

The heaviest snowfall during the night was reported inland in Van Buren county where Paul Kaiser, Van Buren county road

Robert Rueckert Collapses, Dies In SJ Dwelling

St. Joseph firefighters reported they used a resuscitator to administer oxygen to a Berrien Springs man, but were unable to get him breathing again after he suffered an apparent heart attack yesterday.

Firemen reported Robert J. Rueckert, 74, of 122 Hill Crest drive, Berrien Springs, was pronounced dead on arrival at Mercy hospital.

According to firemen, Rueckert was working in the basement of a home he owned at 3 Ridgeway. Firemen responded to the scene about 5:15 p.m. after they were called by residents of the dwelling, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Simmons. Fireman said when they arrived Rueckert was not breathing and a pulse could not be detected. He was taken to Mercy hospital by ambulance.

Mr. Rueckert was born Dec. 3, 1902, in Minnesota and had resided in the area 23 years. He was a carpenter by trade and also owned and operated a laundry and dry cleaning store in New Carlisle, Ind.

Surviving are his widow, the former Marian Nelson; a son, Keith Rueckert, Atlanta, Ga.; a daughter, Mrs. Carol Ann Rideout, Berrien Springs; a sister, Mrs. Rose Booth, Lake Lillian, Minn.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Monday in the Berrien Springs Seventh-day Adventist church. Burial will be in Rose Hill cemetery.

Friends may call at the Alfred-Mayhew funeral home, Berrien Springs, from 3 until 9 p.m. Saturday and on Sunday from noon until 9 p.m.

Memorials may be made to "Your Story Hour."

E. Eysenbach

Miss Elsie M. Eysenbach, 62, of 1565 N. US-33, Benton Harbor, died at 4:45 a.m. today in Mercy hospital.

She was born March 15, 1914, in Delphos, Ohio and had been employed 35 years at Auto Specialties Manufacturing Company, retiring in 1974. She was administrative assistant to the executive vice-president of Auto Specialties. She was a veteran of World War II, serving in the Army.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Lois Dodge, Wausau, Wis.; a brother, Fredric Eysenbach, Tonawanda, N.Y. A brother preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in St. Paul's Episcopal church, St. Joseph, of which she was a member. Cremation will follow the service.

Arrangements are in charge of the Dey-Florin funeral home, St. Joseph.

Memorials may be made to Berrien County Cancer Service.

Visitation at funeral home after 7 this evening.

Mrs. E. Coulson

PAW PAW — Mrs. Elsworth (Julia A.) Coulson, 75, of 511 North LaGrave, Paw Paw, died Wednesday afternoon in Lakeview Community hospital, Paw Paw. She was born April 23, 1901, in Paw Paw.

Surviving besides her husband are three sons, Joseph H. Coulson, Caldwell, Idaho, Elsworth R. Coulson, and Richard Coulson, both of Paw Paw; a daughter, Mrs. Bruno (Isabelle) Mroczek, Decatur; three sisters, Mrs. Clara Abrams, Paw Paw, Mrs. Lula Gabrielson, Wyoming, Mich., and Mrs. Minnie Johnson, Lawton and a brother, Clifford Kline, Decatur.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday in the Hawley funeral home, Paw Paw. Burial will be in Prospect Hill cemetery.

Memorials may be made to Van Buren County Mental Health Clinic.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 until 9 p.m. on Friday, on Saturday from 5 until 9 and all day on Sunday.

Trailer Burns; Man, 94, Is Safe

EAU CLAIRE — A 94-year-old man, with the help of a neighbor, managed to escape from a fire this morning that destroyed the house trailer he was living in two miles north of here on Hotchberger road.

Mrs. Ann Huff, a neighbor of David Rodney, said she saw a blaze coming from the backside of the house trailer around 9 a.m. "I called the fire department and rushed over to the trailer and told Grandpa Rodney it was on fire," she recalled. "It was starting to get smoky on the inside, but the fire was on the outside." She said she made

POLICE ROUNDUP This Dinner Fork Is Deadly Weapon

Benton township police said Bobbie Anderson, 29, Benton Harbor, was arrested early today on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, a dinner fork.

Police said they were called to the Joann Anderson residence, 425 Urbandale avenue, about 3:30 a.m. on a report of a fight. Mrs. Anderson, 27, sustained apparently minor wounds for which she sought her own treatment, police said. The incident stemmed from an argument between a man and a woman.

Anderson, 795 Thresher avenue, identified by police as Mrs. Anderson's estranged husband, was booked at Berrien county jail.

A car, tools and tires were among four thefts reported Wednesday and early today, Twin Cities area police said.

Benton township police said the 1970 Plymouth of Effie Razor, 605 Columbus avenue, Benton Harbor, was reported stolen from where it was parked in the 900 block of East Main street about 2:15 a.m. today.

Also reported stolen to township police were four tires and rims from the Jeep of Vernon Schoenfeldt, Millburg, parked at his home.

Benton Harbor police said Cleon Lewis, 522 Clay street, reported a watch, radio, man's wedding ring and assorted hand tools, all valued at $160, were stolen from his residence.

Leonard Krone, 1558 West Shawnee road, Baroda, told Baroda-Lake township police that $250 in hand tools in a tool box were stolen from his pickup truck parked at Baroda TV & Appliance center, 9004 First street, Baroda.

'President'

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — When Washington Gov. Dan Evans leaves political life next month, he apparently will become "Mr. President."

Officials at Evergreen State College here said Wednesday that the outgoing Republican governor was the unanimous choice of the 15-member presidential search committee to become the college's second president.

Berrien Springs Slates Decision On Grant Bid

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien Springs village council last night said it will determine Jan. 3 the exact amount to be sought under the federal community development grant program for fiscal year 1977-78.

Consultant Leslie Cripps, of Cripps and Associates, Berrien Springs, is to return to next month's meeting with specific amounts for several different projects the council hopes to fund if the grant is approved, Clerk Wade Gorham said.

Last night's council session was a special meeting, and included the second of two public hearings required under the federal program to seek public opinion on what projects could possibly be funded. No one attended the hearing.

Proposed projects mentioned by the council included rehabilitation of housing, additional downtown parking space, a storm drain at Hamilton street and US-31, additional sidewalks and construction of a senior citizens center in the old sheriff's residence at 213 Madison street.

The council was awarded a $178,250 grant for 1975-76. Its application for $265,000 in 1976-77 was turned down.

In a related area, Cripps reported that seven of the 10 projects funded with the first grant are completed or have been contracted.

Yerington Concrete, Benton Harbor, was awarded a contract to demolish four houses at a cost of $2,670. The amount was the lowest of four bids on the project. The work will be funded with the community development grant. The bids were received Monday night.

SJ Good Fellows Close In On Record

The St. Joseph Area Good Fellow fund has pulled within $235 of catching last year's record total of $5,743.57, with two days, today and tomorrow, still left for contributions.

A total of $97 was received for the fund today. The Twin Cities Area Newcomers club contributed $15, the Rev. Robert F. Andrews, $5 and James Boothby III, $2.

BH Good Fellows Gifts Go To 1,500

The gifts of Benton Harbor Area Good Fellows have gone out to some 1,500 people in the Benton Harbor area.

The Good Fellows' books at The Herald-Palladium show that checks for $8 each were sent to 449 needy elderly so they can obtain the amenities of Christmas.

There are checks totaling $850 for places where elderly live to make their Christmas more enjoyable. These gifts went to Harbor Towers, Plaza Manor, Carson's Retirement Home, Claremont Nursing Home, and Bry-Fern Rest Home.

Also, Benton Harbor Area Good Fellows have provided gift certificates at stores for 194 deserving families with 613 people. These may be used for clothing and toys.

Galien Man Stricken With 'French Polio'

BY AL AREND
Staff Writer

GALIEN — Is there any connection between the swine flu vaccine and Guillain-Barre syndrome (French polio)? "Albert Payne of Galien, stricken with the disease which affects the nervous system late last June, definitely feels there is not.

Payne, 58, is now at his Cleveland avenue home south of here working towards recovery. He was stricken with disease in Pennsylvania while taking part in the Bicentennial wagon train headed for a July 4 celebration in Valley Forge, Pa.

"After what I've been through, I don't feel there's a connection," he said.

Payne who had his swine flu shot recently before the possibility of a connection with Guillain-Barre syndrome was announced said "It seems to me that since I still have the disease, if the swine flu vaccine in some way brings it on, then I

"There's just no way of doctoring this thing...it just takes time I guess, but it sure is nice being home for the holidays," Payne said.

Payne and his wife, Ellen, have one married daughter, Mrs. Carol Bloom and three grandchildren, who reside in nearby Westville, Ind.

Payne said his doctors diagnosed his disease as Guillain-

Barre syndrome. His case was the third reported in southwestern Michigan.

Two Allegan county residents have had confirmed cases of Guillain-Barre syndrome, but both have recovered, according to Karl Zimmerman, acting director of the Allegan county health department.

He said a youngster contracted the disease in July of this year and did not have a swine flu vaccination. The other, a 40-year-old man, came down with the disease in November, three weeks after he received a swine flu shot, Zimmerman said.

would be getting worse, instead of better."

Payne, a well known area farmer and collector of antique carriages and horse-drawn coaches, was hospitalized in Kingston, Pa., on June 28.

"It sort of came on gradually," Payne recalled. "One night it felt like my legs just fell asleep. I didn't think much of it, but the next morning it was worse and by night my legs were curled up under me like a corkscrew and when I couldn't walk I was hospitalized."

Payne remained hospitalized at Nesbitt Memorial hospital in Kingston for seven weeks. At one point in time he "was paralyzed from his toes to his eyebrows."

"They had every machine known to man keeping me alive during that stretch," he said. "I was unconscious for three weeks and machines kept me breathing and my heart going." Payne admitted that a couple of times "I thought for sure I was gone."

"The pain was almost unbearable. I tried to scream, but couldn't move my tongue or talk," he recalled. "I was just like a stone."

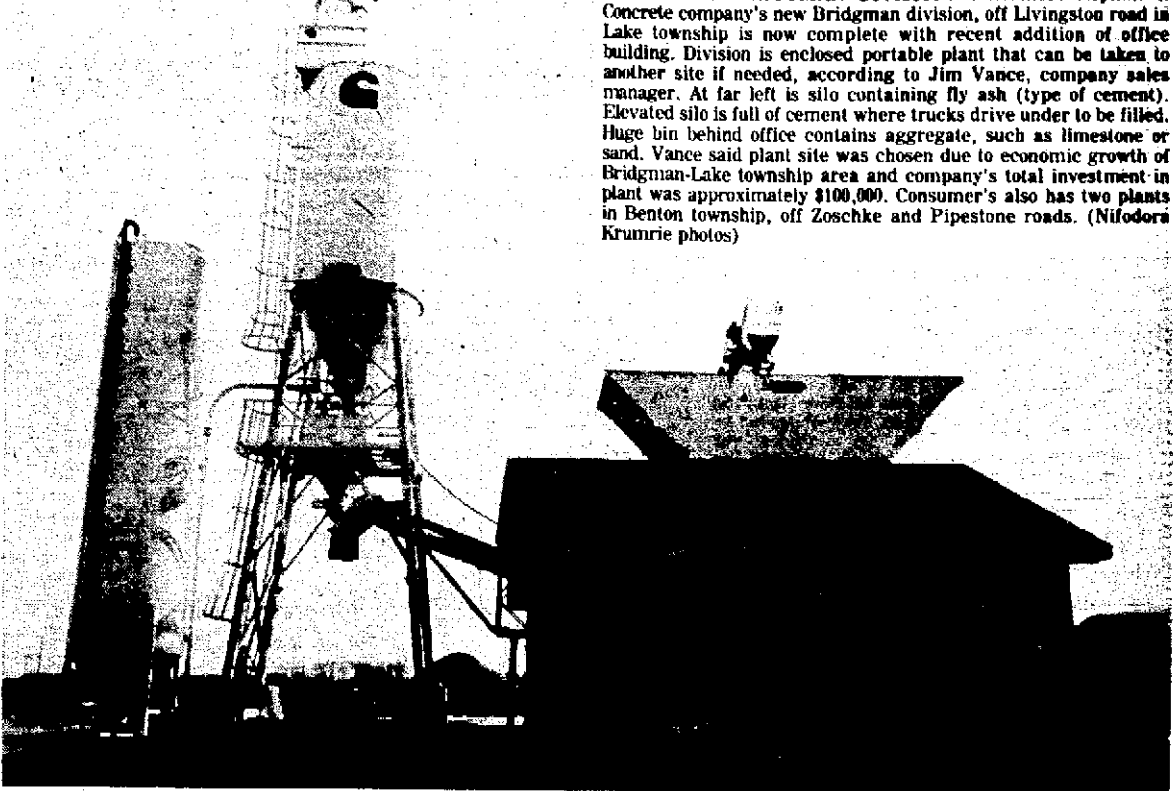

Payne was flown by an ambulance plane to Pawating hospital, Niles, after seven weeks at the Pennsylvania hospital. "By this time the paralysis was starting to retract," he said. Payne was at Pawating for about one month and was then transferred to a Chicago rehabilitation center, where he spent three months. He was home for the holidays when interviewed by this newspaper.

"Other Guillain-Barre syndrome patients there all seem to recover quicker than I did, but what amazes me is that other victims I've talked with never had the pain I had with it."

He said some of the other victims paralysis would start in the legs and stop at the waist, and some would go higher up the body.

"Some claim I've had one of the worst cases on record to have survived," Payne said, "but that's just a matter of opinion."

Payne has now gotten to the point where he can walk with crutches and braces. "I still don't have much control of my hands...which feel like they're packed in ice, but I can finally move my fingers."

Injuries Blamed For Camp Death

BY DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

ALLEGAN — A Fennville pathologist testified here Wednesday that injuries producing bruises found on a young man who died Oct. 9 at a religious training camp near Pullman contributed to his death.

Dr. James I. Clark said the injuries caused the man, Robert VanDusen, 19, of Collegedale, Tenn., to pass out and choke to death as he began vomiting.

The injuries, believed inflicted by a rubber hose, were a

Doug Douma, of Grand Rapids, testified that he saw bruises on VanDusen's legs in late August and that Thomas had told him he (Thomas) had "inflicted discipline" on VanDusen.

Douma said he again saw bruises on VanDusen about six to seven days before he died.

Douma said that when he questioned Thomas about the second set of bruises, Thomas told him that when he (Thomas) had disciplined VanDusen the first time, he (Thomas) had seen "improvements" in him, and that he anticipated more the second time.

Another witness, John R. Smith, a camp resident, refused to answer questions as to whether he had witnessed any beatings and who had administered them. He declined on grounds the answers might tend to incriminate him.

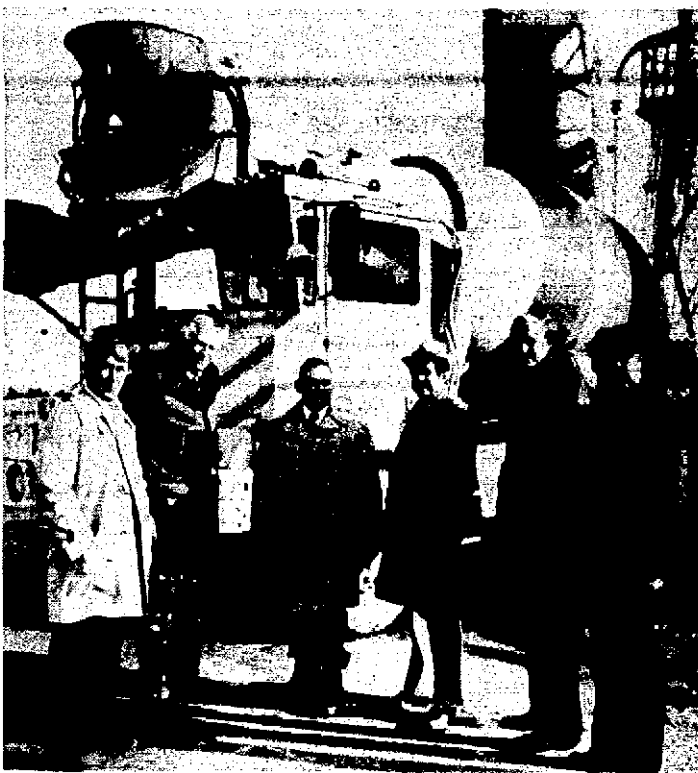

Michael Schwirzer, another camp resident, testified that on the day VanDusen died, VanDusen told him he was "feeling sick" and later that he felt "uncomfortable." Schwirzer said that afterward, when he and two others from the camp went to VanDusen, they found he had stopped breathing.

Dr. Clark's testimony regarding his investigation took up most of the morning portion of the hearing before Judge Gary Stewart in 57th district court here.

During his testimony, Dr. Clark said a number of other factors could have led to the death as well as the injuries producing the bruises. He said these could have been drugs, epilepsy, hepatitis or certain gastro-intestinal disorders.

Dr. Clark said he found no evidence, however, of flu as had been mentioned shortly after the death as a possible contributing factor.

The Oak Haven camp was opened 17 years ago and offers

"direct contributing cause", the doctor stated.

Clark's testimony came during the first day of a preliminary hearing for Daniel L. Thomas, 28, a permanent resident of the Oak Haven camp, who has been charged with second degree murder in the death.

The bruises and a number of scratches were found on the buttocks and legs of the victim, Dr. Clark said.

Det. Sgt. James Ross of the Allegan sheriff's department, testified that he had "spanked" VanDusen twice with a rubber hose, once in early September and again around Sept. 30 or Oct. 1.

According to Ross, the first time VanDusen's hands were reported to have been tied behind his back. The second time they were tied above his head to a tree branch, the detective said Thomas told him.

Niles Biker Struck By Hit-Run Driver

NILES — A Niles man was hospitalized last night as a result of injuries suffered when his bicycle was struck by a hit and run auto near his home east of here. James Morrow Jr., 18, Niles, was listed in good condition this morning at Pawating hospital, Niles. State police at the Niles post said he suffered a broken leg in the 9:30 p.m. accident on US-12 in Cass county's Milton township.

Morrow told troopers he was riding the bicycle west on the highway when struck by an auto from behind. The driver slowed down, but did not stop, he told police. The auto was described only as a white or light-colored passenger car, police said.

Teachers Talks Are Stalemated

BY JOHN DYE
South Berries Bureau

BUCHANAN — A spokesman for the Buchanan Education association (BEA) has said that he did not expect contract negotiations with the school board to resume until after the first of the year.

Brian Steinke, president of the BEA, made the remark when the BEA issued its second statement since teachers rejected a contract settlement offered by a state mediator.

A new superintendent, Dr. Earl Hogan, will take over administration of the school system Jan. 1. He will assume the duties of retiring Supt. Richard Dougherty.

Neither side has made contact with the other to resume talks Steinke said.

The association's statement was in response to one issued by the school board last week. The board in turn was responding to an initial statement issued by the BEA.

The board's statement that it would continue to negotiate after rejection of the proposal, was "an apparent change," the BEA statement said. It claimed the board's position that retroactive pay would not be considered if the proposal was rejected was not taken as a "willingness to negotiate."

Teachers are currently working under the third year of a three-year contract. The mediator's proposal would have extended the current contract to next year, and included provisions for teacher pay hikes both this year and next.

SUSPECT AND WIFE: Daniel L. Thomas, 28, and wife, Judy, are seen entering Allegan county courthouse prior to start of preliminary hearing for Thomas in 57th district court. commune style living, refuge and hard work for people with drug or personal problems. It was reported earlier this month that about 85 people were living at the camp, located on 1,200 acres near Pullman in Allegan county's Lee township.

Judge Stewart adjourned the hearing in order to give defense Atty. Lee Boothby of Berrien Springs and assistant Prosecutor Owen Ramey time to prepare legal briefs.

Judge Stewart said the briefs, which are due to be submitted to him by Jan. 17, will deal with whether the prosecution yesterday proved the elements of intent and malice necessary to sustain the second degree murder charge. The judge said the briefs will also deal with whether a "causal connection" was established between the alleged beatings and VanDusen's death.

Boothby argued yesterday that the charge against Thomas should be dismissed because there was no certain evidence the alleged beatings led to VanDusen's death. He also argued that the prosecution had provided no evidence Thomas inflicted the alleged beatings, except through statements Thomas allegedly made to others. Judge Stewart said he would take Boothby's motion, as well as a motion by Ramey to bind Thomas over to circuit court on the charge, under advisement.

Hearing Is Jan. 4 In Allegan

ALLEGAN — A public hearing is to be held here Jan. 4 on possible uses of $138,000 which Allegan county has received under the federal anti-recession program of the public works improvement act.

County Clerk Russell Sill said the county board of commissioners would conduct the hearing at 1:30 p.m. in the commissioners' meeting room in the courthouse.

Sill said the funds have already been received.

No Question About It

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The choice of U.S. Rep. Robert Bergland, D-Minn., as the next agriculture secretary was a good one, says the head of Michigan's largest farm organization. Bergland, named for the post by President-elect Jimmy Carter, is "a farmer who communicates well with other farmers and is a very capable administrator," said Elton R. Smith, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau. Bergland spoke at the bureau's annual meeting in Grand Rapids earlier this month.

Payne admitted that a couple of times "I thought for sure I was gone."

"The pain was almost unbearable. I tried to scream, but couldn't move my tongue or talk," he recalled. "I was just like a stone."

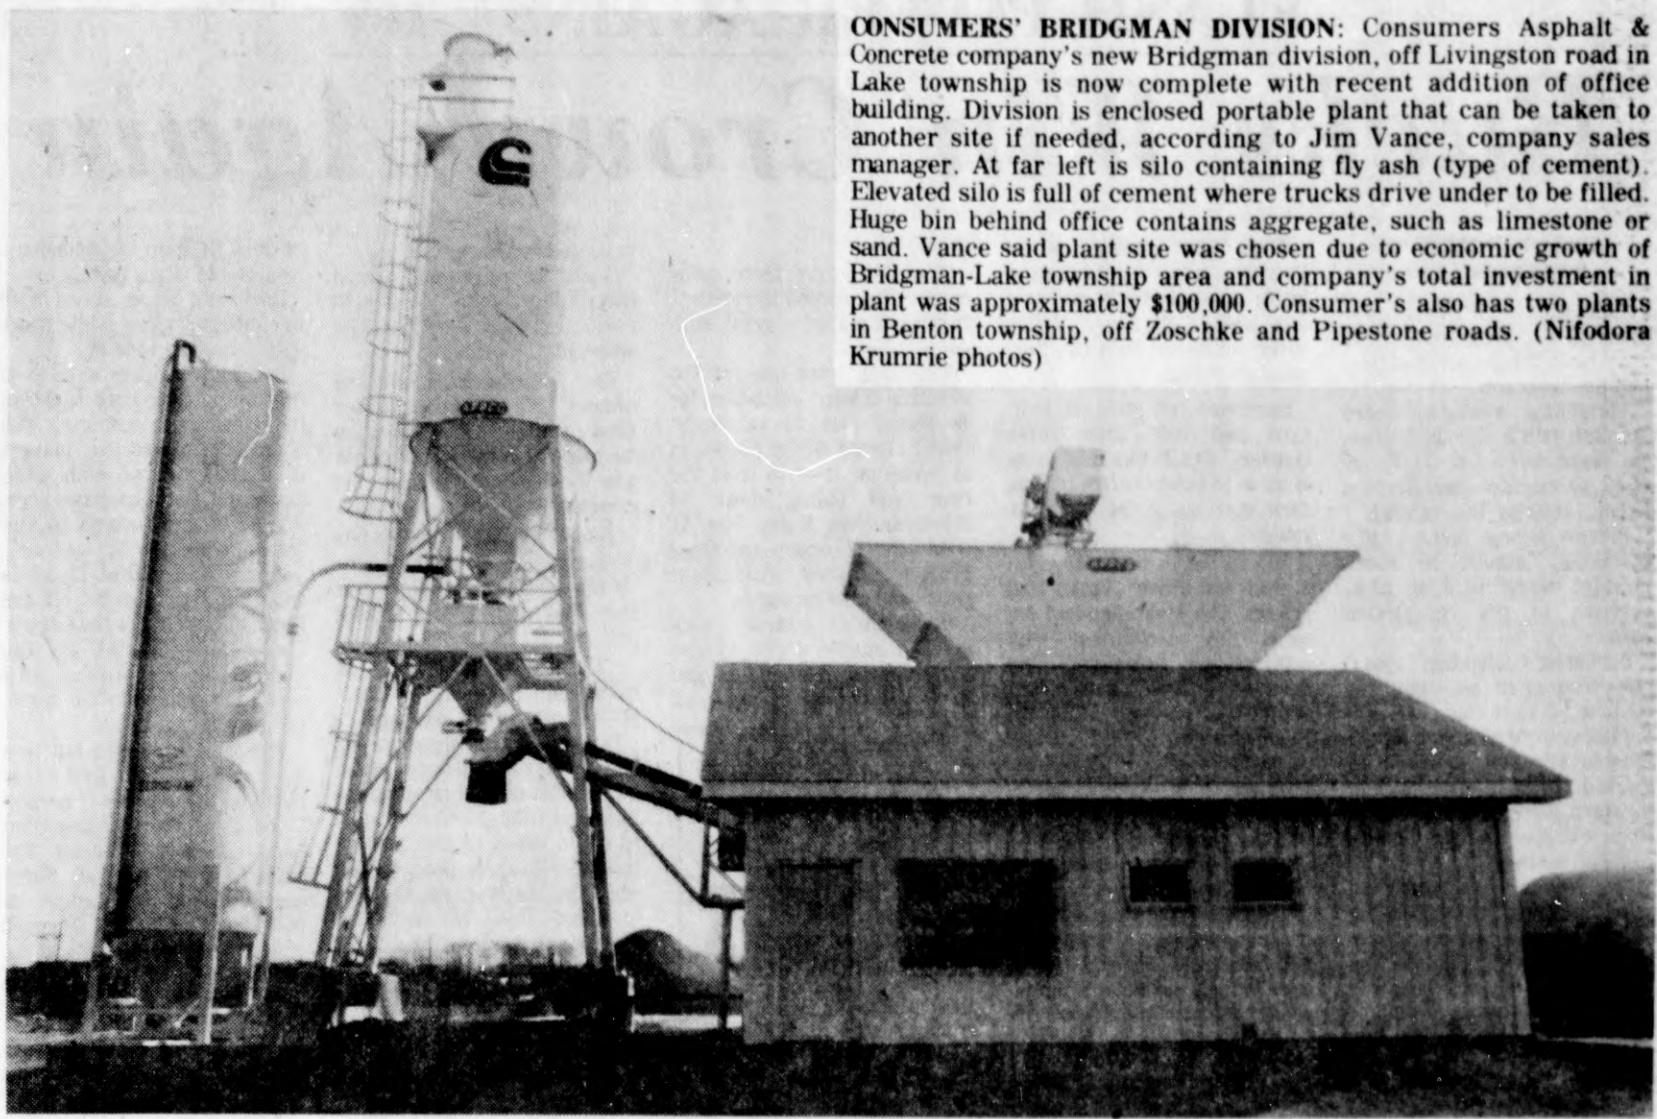

Payne was flown by an ambulance plane to Pawating hospital, Niles, after seven weeks at the Pennsylvania hospital. "By this time the paralysis was starting to retract," he said. Payne was at Pawating for about one month and was then transferred to a Chicago rehabilitation center, where he spent three months. He was home for the holidays when interviewed by this newspaper.

"Other Guillain-Barre syndrome patients there all seem to recover quicker than I did, but what amazes me is that other victims I've talked with never had the pain I had with it."

He said some of the other victims paralysis would start in the legs and stop at the waist, and some would go higher up the body.

"Some claim I've had one of the worst cases on record to have survived," Payne said, "but that's just a matter of opinion."

Payne has now gotten to the point where he can walk with crutches and braces. "I still don't have much control of my hands...which feel like they're packed in ice, but I can finally move my fingers."

Injuries Blamed
For Camp DeathBY DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

ALLEGAN — A Fennville pathologist testified here Wednesday that injuries producing bruises found on a young man who died Oct. 9 at a religious training camp near Pullman contributed to his death.

Dr. James I. Clark said the injuries caused the man, Robert VanDusen, 19, of Collegedale, Tenn., to pass out and choke to death as he began vomiting.

The injuries, believed inflicted by a rubber hose, were a

Doug Douma, of Grand Rapids, testified that he saw bruises on VanDusen's legs in late August and that Thomas had told him he (Thomas) had "inflicted discipline" on VanDusen.

Douma said he again saw bruises on VanDusen about six to seven days before he died.

Douma said that when he questioned Thomas about the second set of bruises, Thomas told him that when he (Thomas) had disciplined VanDusen the first time, he (Thomas) had seen "improvements" in him, and that he anticipated more the second time.

Another witness, John R. Smith, a camp resident, refused to answer questions as to whether he had witnessed any beatings and who had administered them. He declined on grounds the answers might tend to incriminate him.

Michael Schwirzer, another camp resident, testified that on the day VanDusen died, VanDusen told him he was "feeling sick" and later that he felt "uncomfortable." Schwirzer said that afterward, when he and two others from the camp went to VanDusen, they found he had stopped breathing.

Dr. Clark's testimony regarding his investigation took up most of the morning portion of the hearing before Judge Gary Stewart in 57th district court here.

During his testimony, Dr. Clark said a number of other factors could have led to the death as well as the injuries producing the bruises. He said these could have been drugs, epilepsy, hepatitis or certain gastro-intestinal disorders.

Dr. Clark said he found no evidence, however, of flu as had been mentioned shortly after the death as a possible contributing factor.

The Oak Haven camp was opened 17 years ago and offers

"direct contributing cause," the doctor stated.

Clark's testimony came during the first day of a preliminary hearing for Daniel L. Thomas, 28, a permanent resident of the Oak Haven camp, who has been charged with second degree murder in the death.

The bruises and a number of scratches were found on the buttocks and legs of the victim, Dr. Clark said.

Det. Sgt. James Ross of the Allegan sheriff's department, testified that Thomas admitted to him that he had "spanked" VanDusen twice with a rubber hose, once in early September and again around Sept. 30 or Oct. 1.

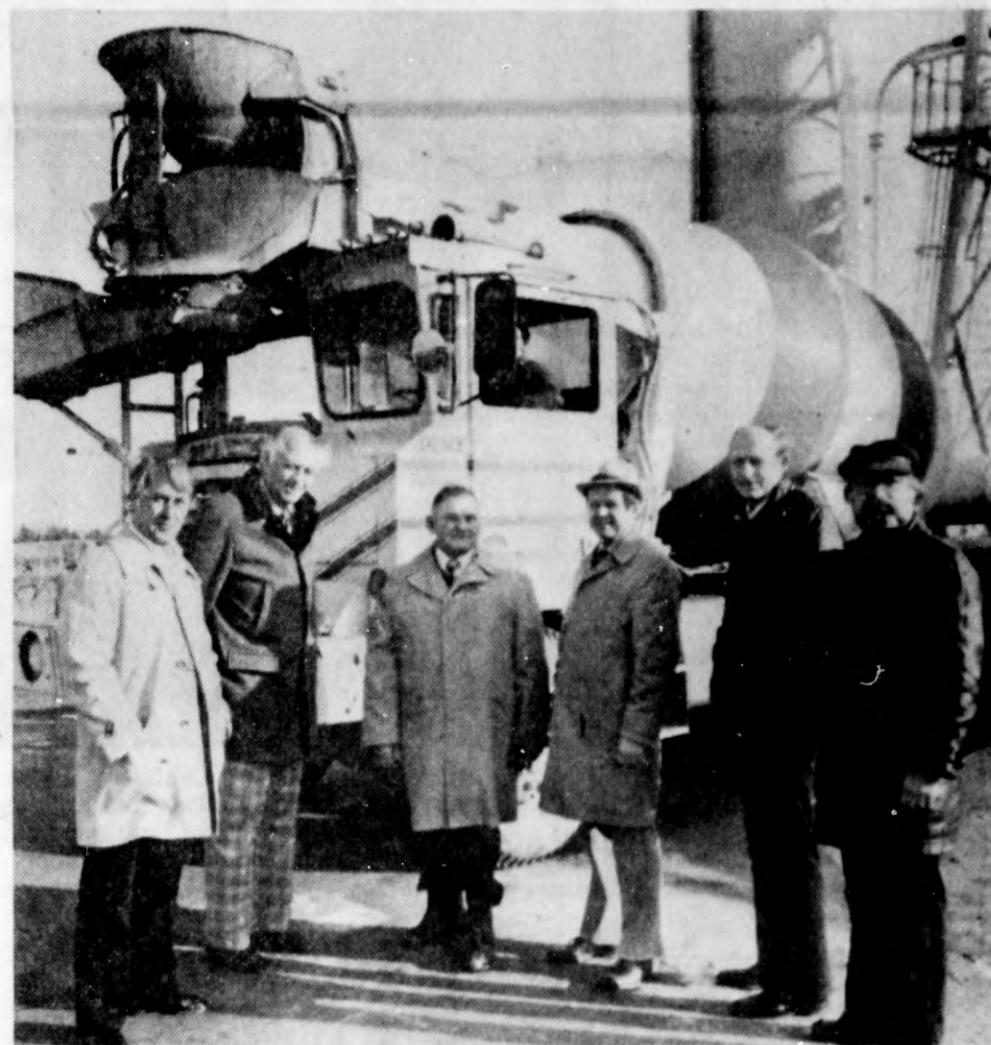

According to Ross, the first time VanDusen's hands were reported to have been tied behind his back. The second time they were tied above his head to a tree branch, the detective said Thomas told him.

NILES — A Niles man was hospitalized last night as a result of injuries suffered when his bicycle was struck by a hit and run auto near his home east of here. James Morrow Jr., 18, Niles, was listed in good condition this morning at Pawating hospital, Niles. State police at the Niles post said he suffered a broken leg in the 9:50 p.m. accident on US-12 in Cass county's Milton township.

Morrow told troopers he was riding the bicycle west on the highway when struck by an auto from behind. The driver slowed down, but did not stop, he told police. The auto was described only as a white or light-colored passenger car, police said.

commune style living, refuge and hard work for people with drug or personal problems. It was reported earlier this month that about 80 people were living at the camp, located on 1,200 acres near Pullman in Allegan county's Lee township.

Judge Stewart adjourned the hearing in order to give defense Atty. Lee Boothby of Berrien Springs and assistant Prosecutor Owen Ramey time to prepare legal briefs.

Judge Stewart said the briefs, which are due to be submitted to him by Jan. 17, will deal with whether the prosecution yesterday proved the elements of intent and malice necessary to sustain the second degree murder charge. The judge said the briefs will also deal with whether a "causal connection" was established between the alleged beatings and VanDusen's death.

Boothby argued yesterday that the charge against Thomas should be dismissed because there was no certain evidence the alleged beatings led to VanDusen's death. He also argued that the prosecution had provided no evidence Thomas inflicted the alleged beatings, except through statements Thomas allegedly made to others. Judge Stewart said he would take Boothby's motion, as well as a motion by Ramey to bind Thomas over to circuit court on the charge, under advisement.

In Allegan

ALLEGAN — A public hearing is to be held here Jan. 4 on possible uses of $138,000 which Allegan county has received under the federal anti-recession program of the public works improvement act.

County Clerk Russell Sill said the county board of commissioners would conduct the hearing at 1:30 p.m. in the commissioners' meeting room in the courthouse.

Sill said the funds have already been received.

Bo's Charisma Brings Top Assistants To Michigan

By LARRY PALADINO
AP Sports Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — If Michigan pays a football recruit a good salary, how could he resist becoming a Wolverine?

But salary isn't the inducement. It's Coach Bo Schembechler. His reputation and ability make him one of the best recruiters — of assistant coaches — in collegiate football.

Recruiting is the backbone of a consistently good program at Michigan. But it isn't only the recruiting of top high school players that has made the Wolverines so successful under Schembechler. It's been his knack of funneling top-notch coaches onto his constantly changing staff.

The coaching talent drain has been tremendous in Schembechler's eight years as Michigan's football coach. But somehow he's managed to get replacements who have fit right in and have helped the Wolverines to a 76-10-3 record and a place among the nation's top 10 teams each year.

"When you have a strong head coach it sometimes works to your advantage," Michigan Athletic Director Don Canham said. "A guy like Woody Hayes (of Ohio State) and Bo, who have great enthusiasm, can put their hands on the best assistant coaches to replace the ones who leave."

Canham said the charisma of coaches like Hayes and Schembechler draws the best, most eager assistants.

After the regular season ended in November, Gary Moeller, Michigan's defensive coordinator, was named head coach at Illinois. A couple of weeks later Chuck Stobart, the Wolverines' offensive coordinator, was appointed head coach at Toledo.

Both remain with Michigan in Pasadena to help the team prepare for its Rose Bowl encounter with Southern California. Then they'll be out recruiting for their own schools — and possibly grabbing off some of their former Michigan prospects.

"We look at those guys as graduating seniors," Schembechler said of Moeller and Stobart. "It took them eight years to get out of Michigan."

He said after the Rose Bowl "We'll assemble the staff and go at it again."

Because of National Collegiate Athletic Association regulations which last year reduced coaching staffs, Schembechler can only replace one of the two departing aides. The reduction was actually in effect the past season, but Michigan was exempted because of contract commitments.

"We are hiring somebody with an Ohio and Michigan background," Canham said. "Bo always has someone in the back of his mind to replace everybody he's got on his staff. He's too well organized not to."

"If our basketball coach, Johnny Orr, ever left I already know who I'd replace him with. I don't know who the hell I'd replace Schembechler with, I'll tell you that."

Other Schembechler assistants who have left Michigan are Jim Young, Frank Matoney, George Mans, Larry Smith and Elliott Uzelac.

Young became coach at Arizona and several weeks ago was named to the head job at Purdue. He took Smith with him to Arizona. Now Smith is Tulane's coach.

Matoney is coach at Syracuse and Uzelac at Western Michigan, where he turned the program around in two seasons and this year was named Mid-American Conference Coach of the Year.

Mans is now in private business after coaching Eastern Michigan a couple of years.

Jack Harbaugh, currently Michigan's defensive backfield coach, reportedly was high on the list of candidates for the Bowling Green job. But that recently went to former Michigan State coach, Denny Stolz.

Other Wolverines' assistants are Paul Schudel, who handles the offensive interior line; Jerry Hankon, offensive line; Tirrel Burton, offensive ends; Tom Reed, defensive line; Bill McCartney, defensive ends, and Dennis Brown, offensive backs and varsity reserves.

Hankon has been a Schembechler aide the longest. He joined his staff at Miami of Ohio in 1968. Moeller and Stobart became part of his Miami staff in 1967. All three assistants moved to Michigan with Schembechler in 1968.

Bucks Win Crown Again

By JACK WALKDEN

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Buchanan's basketball team may have finally arrived here Wednesday night.

Combining awesome board strength with tenacious defense, the Bucks topped River Valley 65-57 to capture the Berrien Springs Holiday Tournament.

Berrien Springs handed Lake Michigan Catholic its ninth straight defeat with an 82-55 decision in the consolation game.

Buchanan's defending Class C state champions had sputtered off to a 3-3 start this year. But the Bucks were no match for the Mustangs in the title game. It marked the third straight year in which Buchanan has beaten River Valley in the championship contest.

"It was our best effort all year," beamed Buck coach Jon Bohannon. "We played with great intensity. I liked the way we were able to last break. Our passing was great and we looked ahead."

That fast break helped Buchanan hit on 10 of 15 shots in the first quarter on its way to a 21-8 lead. And River Valley never got closer than the final score after that.

Buchanan led 31-21 at half-time and 48-35 after three quarters. The Bucks held leads of up to 16 points before pulling their starters in the final two minutes.

The 65 points were the most scored on River Valley all season. The Mustangs had entered the tournament with southwestern Michigan's top defense, allowing just 49.7 points per game. Much of Buchanan's offensive power came on the boards. The Bucks held a commanding 46-20 rebounding edge.

"They really hurt us on the offensive boards," lamented Mustang coach Jerry Schaffer. "We let them get an early lead because we didn't shoot well and didn't move the ball well. Once we got in the hole offensively, it was tough coming back against a team as powerful as they are.

"But let's give them some credit. They earned the victory. Buchanan played a great ball game."

The Buck front line led the awesome display, combining for 43 points and 35 rebounds. Center Gerald Busby poured in 24 points on 11 of 18 from the floor and pulled down 14 rebounds. Mo Kyles had 11 points and 12 caroms and Greg Frazier finished with eight points and nine rebounds.

Buchanan's guards both cracked double digits as Joe Kyles tossed in 12 points and Kevin Vanderbush added 10, all in the fourth quarter.

Guard Steve Copeland topped River Valley, now 5-3, scoring 16 points. Forward Gary Schaffer added 10.

The Mustangs, playing without 6-7 center Werner Maak, were just no match on the boards for the Bucks. Maak was in Germany visiting his grandmother.

"I felt reasonably sure of our rebounding," Bohannon said. "If they didn't make their first shot, they didn't get a second one."

"We still have to work on boxing out, however. We can't always just outleap everyone."

Defensively, Buchanan forced River Valley into 16 turnovers, a higher-than-normal total for the Mustangs. And the Bucks limited River Valley to just 22 of 36 from the floor, a poor 38 per cent. The Mustangs hit just five of their first 24 shots as Buchanan raced out to a 31-15 lead in the first 14 minutes.

The Bucks finished the game with 23 turnovers, nine in the final quarter. And Buchanan hit on 29 of 64 from the floor for a respectable 45 per cent.

Buchanan hit on seven of 10 free throw chances, while River Valley swished 13 of 19.

Berrien held leads of up to 40 in running its record to 3-5 in the consolation contest. The Shamrocks placed four players in double figures with Jack Lewis and Tony Sammons scoring 15, Terry Hosbie 14 and Mike Shembarger 12.

Clancy Rose tallied 13 points and Phil Banks came off the bench to score 12 for the Lakers. Center Mike Masini, the top Catholic scorer with a 15.9 averaging going into the game, was held in just eight.

The Lakers jumped out to a 6-2 lead in the first four minutes. But Berrien outscored Catholic 30-5 over the next eight minutes for a 32-11 margin. The Shamrocks led at all three quarter stops with edges of 16-7, 40-23 and 62-38. Berrien scored the first 16 points of the fourth quarter for a 78-36 lead, their biggest of the night.

Field goal shooting played a big part in the game for the Lakers. Berrien hit on 38 of 80 from the floor for 48 per cent. Catholic could find the range on just 20 of 68 for 29 per cent.

It was the worst defeat of the season for Catholic, which lost its first eight games by a total of just 55 points.

In the junior varsity tournament being held at Buchanan, the hosting Bucks and River Valley moved into today's championship game with victories Wednesday.

Buchanan routed Berrien Springs 103-77 and the Mustangs got by Lake Michigan Catholic 62-36. The two meet at 3 p.m. today for the title. The consolation game is set for 1:30 p.m.

The Bucks broke open a tight game in the second quarter in posting their win. Buchanan led just 27-20 after the first quarter, but outscored the Shamrocks 35-17 in the second period for a 62-37 halftime edge. The Bucks led 63-56 after three quarters.

Jeff Butler led Buchanan with 30 points, while Ronnie Williams added 25 and Alan Ward had 19.

John Jasper topped Berrien with 19. Rob Steirle added 16, Brad Layman 12 and Ray DePriest 10.

River Valley led at all three quarter stops in the second game. The Mustangs held margins of 11-8, 28-16 and 42-24.

Dave Hausman tossed in 18 points for River Valley and Mike Petersek added 13 and Terry Cross 11.

Raiders, Steelers Renew Hot Rivalry

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Exactly four years ago, a pro football rivalry was born.

The newborn was greeted with a slap by Jack Tatum of the Oakland Raiders and cradled in the arms of Franco Harris, Pittsburgh Steelers owner Art Rooney passed out cigars.

The Dec. 21 arrival came with five seconds left in an American Football Conference playoff game at Pittsburgh.

Tatum hit John Fuqua as he tried to catch a fourth-down, desperation pass. The ball bounced back toward the line of scrimmage. Harris caught it inches off the ground and carried it for the touchdown that beat Oakland 13-7.

That 60-yard play has been called The Inimicable Reception.

By any name, it was the birth of a rivalry to be renewed Sunday when the Raiders and Steelers meet for the AFC title at Oakland.

Greased jerseys, obscene footballs, a spying priest, and a purposely frozen field have been just some of the strange elements that have fed the rivalry in recent years.

The tone got more serious this season when the Steelers accused some Raiders of cheap shots with intent to maim, and one Raiders player followed with a slander suit against Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll.

Differences between the two teams go back to that day in 1972 when Tatum insisted he never touched the ball, that it bounced off Fuqua, and therefore was not legally catchable by Harris.

In 1973, the Steelers went to Oakland and returned with a 17-8 regular-season victory and complaints of "dirty tricks."

Center Ray Mansfield insisted some of the footballs he was given from the sidelines were short of air. He said others had obscenities printed in ink on the laces.

In addition, the Steelers accused Raiders' offensive linemen of greasing their jerseys.

Later that season, it was Oakland pointing the finger. It seems that during the Raiders' last regular-season contest, some Steelers assistant coaches used press passes to attend the game.

When Raiders officials found out, they summoned police to bar the Steelers' coaches from the press box.

A week later, the Raiders barred the Steelers from the AFC title game, beating them 33-14.

When the Steelers returned to Oakland for the 1974 AFC title game, it was Noll who was wary of spying.

He purposely had the Steelers run some plays from an unbalanced line in practice, even though no such strategy was planned for the game, which they won 32-14.

Last season, the Steelers beat the Raiders 16-10 in Pittsburgh for the AFC title, and that game spawned more accusations.

While practicing here, Raiders officials saw a priest on the field.

The priest, a friend of Rooney's, was asked to leave, and he obliged.

After the game, the Raiders suggested that Pittsburgh might have purposely allowed the field to freeze to thwart Oakland's passing game.

U-M Seeking Stamina

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) —

Stamina.

Five years ago Coach Bo Schembechler's Wolverines didn't have it near the end of the game and they lost in the Rose Bowl, 13-12, to Stanford. Schembechler doesn't expect his players to fade out this time, as they prepare for the Jan. 1 football battle against Southern California.

"We've been working hard so we won't tire," he said, after a two-hour practice Wednesday. "We felt in the 1972 Rose Bowl game our pass rush tired on Stanford's last drive."

Quarterback Don Bunce drove Stanford from its 22-yard line in the final 1:48 with Rod Garcia kicking a 31-yard field goal with 12 seconds left to give the Indians the triumph. Bunce completed five passes in the drive.

Schembechler said Wednesday's practice, at Citrus College, was "hard" and that "the players are responding well."

"I think the Rose Bowl is like an opening game," he said. "We will work on everything in our book. We have plenty of time to prepare, just like USC. Basically, we'll go with the plays and plans that got us here."

He said he likes the routine he has set since the squad's arrival in Pasadena on Monday.

"We are up at 7 a.m., have breakfast, travel to Citrus where we meet and are on the field at 10 a.m. We are able to have a concentrated practice."

Wednesday after practice they concentrated on the sights at Disneyland, their last scheduled outside activity until Monday.

While Schembechler said his team won't tire, star Southern

Cal running back Ricky Bell said he thought the matchup between the two perennial powers, both with 10-1 records, would be a test of stamina.

"Both are power teams. Run, run, run," Bell said, prior to a "Trojans" workout at their campus. "I think what'll be important is who can hold up the longest."

Schembechler said Southern Cal, "is a great power team with a great back. That will challenge us. USC is bigger defensively than we are, but I think we have adequate size on offense. USC always has talent and is deep in players. They have exceptional athletes."

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Buchanan's basketball team may have finally arrived here Wednesday night.

That fast break helped Buchanan hit on 10 of 15 shots in the first quarter on its way to a 21-8 lead. And River Valley never got closer than the final score after that.

Buchanan led 31-21 at half-time and 49-35 after three quarters. The Bucks held leads of up to 16 points before pulling their starters in the final two minutes.

The 65 points were the most scored on River Valley all season. The Mustangs had entered the tournament with southwestern Michigan's top defense, allowing just 45.7 points per game. Much of Buchanan's offensive power came on the boards. The Bucks held a commanding 46-20 rebounding edge.

"They really hurt us on the offensive boards," lamented Mustang coach Jerry Schaffer. "We let them get an early lead because we didn't shoot well and didn't move the ball well. Once we got in the hole offensively, it was tough coming back against a team as powerful as they are.

"But let's give them some credit. They earned the victory. Buchanan played a great ball game."

The Buck front line led the awesome display, combining for 43 points and 35 rebounds. Center Gerald Busby poured in 24 points on 11 of 16 from the floor and pulled down 14 rebounds. Mo Kyles had 11 points and 12 caroms and Greg Frazier finished with eight points and nine rebounds.

Buchanan's guards both cracked double digits as Joe Kyles tossed in 12 points and Kevin Vanderbush added 10, all in the fourth quarter.

Guard Steve Copeland topped River Valley, now 5-3, scoring 16 points. Forward Gary Schaffer added 10.

The Mustangs, playing without 6-7 center Werner Maak, were just no match on the boards for the Bucks. Maak was in Germany visiting his grandmother.

"I felt reasonably sure of our rebounding," Bohannon said. "If they didn't make their first shot, they didn't get a second one."

"We still have to work on boxing out, however. We can't always just outleap everyone."

Defensively, Buchanan forced River Valley into 16 turnovers, a higher-than-normal total for the Mustangs. And the Bucks limited River Valley to just 22 of 56 from the floor, a poor 39 per cent. The Mustangs hit just five of their first 24 shots as Buchanan raced out to a 31-15 lead in the first 14 minutes.

The Bucks finished the game with 23 turnovers, nine in the final quarter. And Buchanan hit on 29 of 64 from the floor for a respectable 45 per cent.

Buchanan hit on seven of 10 free throw chances, while River Valley swished 13 of 19.

Berrien held leads of up to 40 in running its record to 3-5 in the consolation contest. The Shamrocks placed four players in double figures with Jack Lewis and Tony Sammons scoring 16, Terry Hoshein 14 and Mike Shembarger 12.

Clancy Rose tallied 13 points and Phil Banks came off the bench to score 12 for the Lakers. Center Mike Masini, the top Catholic scorer with a 15.9 averaging going into the game, was held to just eight.

The Lakers jumped out to a 6-2 lead in the first four minutes. But Berrien outscored Catholic 30-5 over the next eight minutes for a 32-11 margin. The Shamrocks led at all three quarter stops with edges of 16-7, 40-23 and 62-38. Berrien scored the first 16 points of the fourth quarter for a 78-38 lead, their biggest of the night.

Field goal shooting played a big part in the game for the Lakers. Berrien hit on 38 of 80 from the floor for 48 per cent. Catholic could find the range on just 20 of 69 for 29 per cent.

It was the worst defeat of the season for Catholic, which lost its first eight games by a total of just 55 points.

In the junior varsity tournament being held at Buchanan, the hosting Bucks and River Valley moved into today's championship game with victories Wednesday.

Buchanan routed Berrien Springs 103-77 and the Mustangs got by Lake Michigan Catholic 62-36. The two meet at 3 p.m. today for the title. The consolation game is set for 1:30 p.m.

The Bucks broke open a tight game in the second quarter in posting their win. Buchanan led just 27-20 after the first quarter, but outscored the Shamrocks 35-17 in the second period for a 62-37 halftime edge. The Bucks led 83-56 after three quarters.

Jeff Butler led Buchanan with 30 points, while Ronnie Williams added 23 and Alan Ward had 19.

John Jasper topped Berrien with 19. Rob Steimle added 16, Brad Layman 12 and Ray DePriest 10.

River Valley led at all three quarter stops in the second game. The Mustangs held margins of 11-8, 26-16 and 42-24.

Raiders, Steelers Renew Hot Rivalry

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Exactly four years ago, a pro football rivalry was born.

The newborn was greeted with a slap by Jack Tatum of the Oakland Raiders and cradled in the arms of Franco Harris, Pittsburgh Steelers owner Art Rooney passed out cigars.

The Dec. 23 arrival came with five seasons left in an American Football Conference playoff game at Pittsburgh.

Tatum hit John Fuqua as he tried to catch a fourth-down, desperation pass. The ball bounced back toward the line of scrimmage, Harris caught it inches off the ground and carried it for the touchdown that beat Oakland 13-7.

That 60-yard play has been called The Immaculate Reception.

By any name, it was the birth of a rivalry to be renewed Sunday when the Raiders and Steelers meet for the AFC title at Oakland.

Greased jerseys, obscene footballs, a spying priest, and a purposely frozen field have been just some of the strange elements that have fed the rivalry in recent years.

The tone got more serious this season when the Steelers accused some Raiders of cheap shots with intent to maim, and one Raiders player followed with a slander suit against Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll.

Differences between the two teams go back to that day in 1972 when Tatum insisted he never touched the ball, that it bounced off Fuqua and therefore was not legally catchable by Harris.

In 1973, the Steelers went to Oakland and returned with a 17-9 regular-season victory and complaints of "dirty tricks."

Center Ray Mansfield insisted some of the footballs he was given from the sidelines were short of air. He said others had obscenities printed in ink on the laces.

In addition, the Steelers accused Raiders offensive linemen of greasing their jerseys.

Later that season, it was Oakland pointing the finger.

It seems that during the Raiders' last regular-season contest, some Steelers assistant coaches used press passes to attend the game.

When Raiders officials found out, they summoned police to bar the Steelers' coaches from the press box.

A week later, the Raiders barred the Steelers from the AFC title game, beating them 33-14.

When the Steelers returned to Oakland for the 1974 AFC title game, it was Noll who was wary of spying.

He purposely had the Steelers run some plays from an unbalanced line in practice, even though no such strategy was planned for the game, which they won 32-14.

Last season, the Steelers beat the Raiders 16-10 in Pittsburgh for the AFC title, and that game spawned more accusations.

While practicing here, Raiders officials saw a priest on the field.

The priest, a friend of Rooney's, was asked to leave, and he obliged.

After the game, the Raiders suggested that Pittsburgh might have purposely allowed the field to freeze to thwart Oakland's passing game.

U-M Seeking Stamina

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Stamina.

"Five years ago Coach Bo Schembechler's Wolverines didn't have it near the end of the game and they lost in the Rose Bowl, 13-12, to Stanford."

as they prepare for the Jan. 1 football battle against Southern California.

"We've been working hard so we won't tire," he said, after a two-hour practice Wednesday. "We felt in the 1972 Rose Bowl game our pass rush tired on Stanford's last drive."

Quarterback Don Bunce drove Stanford from its 22-yard line in the final 1:48 with Rod Garcia kicking a 31-yard field goal with 12 seconds left to give the Indians the triumph. Bunce completed five passes in the drive.

Schembechler said Wednesday's practice, at Citrus College, was "hard" and that "the players are responding well."

"I think the Rose Bowl is like an opening game," he said. "We will work on everything in our book. We have plenty of time to prepare, just like USC. Basically, we'll go with the plays and plans that got us here."

He said he likes the routine he has set since the squad's arrival in Pasadena on Monday.

"We are up at 7 a.m., have breakfast, travel to Citrus where we meet and are on the field at 10 a.m. We are able to have a concentrated practice."

Wednesday after practice they concentrated on the sights at Disneyland, their last scheduled outside activity until Monday.

While Schembechler said his team won't tire, star Southern

Cal running back Ricky Bell said he thought the matchup between the two perennial powers, both with 10-1 records, would be a test of stamina.

"Both are power teams. Run, run, run," Bell said, prior to a Trojans' workout at their campus. "I think what'll be important is who can hold up the longest."

Schembechler said Southern Cal, "is a great power team with a great back. That will challenge us. USC is bigger defensively than we are, but I think we have adequate size on offense. USC always has talent and is deep in players. They have exceptional athletes."

Defense Sparks Lutheran

Titans Off To Best Start In History

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

Michigan Lutheran's basketball program has come of age. And Titan coach John Eggart feels he owes it all to defense.

"We have a real desire on the team to be the top defensive team in southwestern Michigan," Eggart says. "Results have been the key to making our defense work. I talk defense a lot. But when you have a couple of games where you hold a team under 30 and you begin to believe in it."

Lutheran is off to the best start in school history, winning four of its first six games. The Titans had never had a winning record during five previous seasons, three with a full schedule.

Even better yet, as far as Eggart is concerned, Lutheran possesses the area's stingiest defense, allowing just 46.0 points per game. The Titans held Lawrence to 28 points and Eau Claire to 29 in their most recent two victories.

Eggart uses a 1-2-2 zone defense, built around 6-1 junior center Randy Wolf. And the zone has been very effective. Lutheran has held its six opponents to a combined 29 per cent shooting percentage from the floor. Only unbeaten Bridgman has shot better than 31 per cent against the Titans. The Bees found the range on 44 per cent of their shots.

"We use this particular zone because of Randy," Eggart says. "We've used it for three years and the kids are finally getting to know it pretty well. Randy has long arms and is real quick. Normally he will take away the entire front as far as shooting is concerned."

Wolf is also the team's second best scorer (8.5) and top rebounder.

"Randy has really good jumping ability for a person 6-1," Eggart says. "He has great shot blocking ability. He also has good timing and is able to make steals from the front of the zone and get down the floor to make the layup."

Lutheran's top scorer is 6-0 senior guard Bob Guse, a brilliant ballhandler who is averaging 15.0 points per game. "When we're in trouble we give him the ball and tell him to penetrate," Eggart says. "There are many games in which he gets 25 shots, and that's what we want. We hope he'll get fouled a lot, which he does."

"I can't say enough about his floor savvy. He has the uncanny ability to know where to be and where the ball is going to be."

On defense, Guse is also an excellent back side rebounder, according to Eggart.

The other three Lutheran regulars are 6-3 forward John Brink (7.3), 6-0 junior forward Bruce Morris (8.0) and 6-0 senior guard Mark Briney (7.5).

In the zone, Guse and Briney play the middle and Morris and Brink play underneath.

Eggart expects this to be the strongest team Lutheran has ever had. But even the Titan mentor has been pleasantly surprised by the strong start.

"I didn't know what to expect," he says. "I knew we would have a lot of experience back, and I'm pleased with the start. Probably team work has been the thing which has stood out the most. Our leading scorer is averaging 15, but all of our starters are right around eight per game. All five regulars are pulling down five to eight rebounds a game, too."

"It's tough to pick out a standout because they're all equal. Even though Guse does have the highest point total, I think we could go to almost anyone of the other four and get the same result."

Offense is the only aspect of the Titan game which Eggart would like to improve on. Lutheran is averaging only 51.2 points per game.

"We need a much better offensive performance," he says. "We're scoring enough to win, but our shooting percentage concerns me (38 per cent)."

The schedule does not get any easier for Lutheran, however, in its bid for a winning season. The Titans still have Decatur and rematches with Bridgman and Gallien (the two teams to beat them) on tap. But as Eggart says, "We'll go as far as our defense takes us."

Several spectacular individual matchups will highlight what promises to be an exhausting physical battle as the teams vie for a spot in Super Bowl XI.

"A bump or bruise won't keep many people out of a game like this," says Los Angeles coach Chuck Knox.

Siemon is Minnesota's only doubtful performer. Siemon has a pulled muscle in the calf of his left leg and has been unable to run this week.

The most notable matchup in the line will feature the Rams' All-Pro defensive end Jack Youngblood against Minnesota's All-Pro offensive tackle Ron Yary. Los Angeles defensive tackle Merlin Olsen's battle against Vikings strongman Ed White will be equally brutal, but the key could be the battle between Rams' defensive end Fred Dryer and Minnesota's Steve Riley, who was brilliant in the Vikings' playoff victory over Washington last weekend.

When the Rams have the ball, veteran Tom Mack has the job of containing Alan Page, and Los Angeles' John Williams will go against Carl Eller in a matchup of former University of Minnesota stars.

Knox and Minnesota Coach Bud Grant both feel their teams are playing their best football of the season.

"We've played good football at times during the season," said Knox in a telephone interview. "We've been inconsistent, but a lot of that was from having three quarterbacks start for us during the year."

Rookie Pat Haden took over for Los Angeles the final month of the season and the Rams have not lost since.

"We should be stronger as each day goes by," said Knox. "We're putting a lot of hours in because it's going to be a tough football game for us."

The Vikings practiced in 24-degree weather Wednesday, but the National Weather Service said the game time temperature Sunday will be in the teens.

"It'll be cold, but it'll be cold for both teams," said Knox. "It's not going to be that big a factor either way."

Grant said he would like to force the Rams into throwing the ball more than usual.

"They like to run the ball every down, like a lot of teams," said Grant. "I just hope we can force them to pass more, because there's a greater margin for error there."

The Rams rushed for 2,328 yards during the regular season compared to the Vikings' 2,003. Minnesota passed for 2,855 yards to the Rams' 2,341.

A similar crop of eight minor league players brought into training a year ago included pitching sensation Mark Fidrych, and Jason Thompson.

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers have invited a group of 12 minor league players to work out, on a non-roster basis, when the Tigers open spring training at Lakeland, Fla. in February.

The group includes nine pitchers, one catcher and two infielders.

Tigers officials say one of the group's "prize prospects" is Grand Rapids pitcher Dave Rozema. Rozema's second pro ball season last summer saw him lead Montgomery to the Southern League pennant with a 12-4 record and a 1.57 earned run average.

Individual Battles Key LA-Viking Tilt

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Players won't be ducking out of the trench warfare Sunday when the Minnesota Vikings and Los Angeles Rams meet for the National Football Conference championship.

Sabres Spoil Debut Of Hawks' White

Named To Replace Billy Reay

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The new Chicago Black Hawks' coaching staff has to get healthy to solve the team's playing problems. Chicago fired Billy Reay, dean of National Hockey League coaches, Wednesday and named veteran defenseman Bill White as his replacement.

Bobby Orr and Stan Mikita, who like White are unable to play because of injuries, were named assistant coaches.

The change failed to produce any instant turnaround, as Buffalo extended its winning streak to six with a 4-2 triumph over Chicago Wednesday night, spoiling White's coaching debut. The loss extended Chicago's winless streak to 12.

Williamson Almost Fights With 'Idol'

Detroit Bombs Atlanta

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
John Williamson used to worship Pete Maravich from afar. But up close, he's not so crazy about him.

Williamson's onetime hero became a villain for a while Wednesday night when the two almost came to blows in their National Basketball Association game.

Williamson's New York Nets went on to hand Maravich's New Orleans Jazz a 127-93 beating. Afterwards, Maravich and Williamson were considerably cooled off.

"The game got sloppy and we were getting frustrated, and we just went at each other," said Maravich. "It was just one of those things. It didn't mean anything."

"That boy has no history of hitting anybody," intoned Williamson, who admits that before he became a pro, Maravich was one of his "idols."

But for a while there, it looked like Williamson was about to become a villain for a while Wednesday night when the two almost came to blows in their National Basketball Association game.

as if there would be blood spilled after Williamson had given Maravich a hard slap as he charged in for a basket. The blow sent Maravich to the floor, where he lay quietly for several moments.

At this point, Williamson shouted: "Good act, Pete." When Maravich finally got up, he responded to Williamson: "Wait 'till you come down to our place, John. You're trying to mess people up."

In other NBA games, the Houston Rockets defeated the Washington Bullets 111-90 and the Detroit Pistons stopped the Atlanta Hawks 107-94.

Williamson wound up as one of the big guns in the Nets' cause, scoring 21 points. Al Skinner was the team leader with 22. Maravich led New Orleans with 22 points, seven under his league-leading average.

Calvin Murphy and John Lucas scored 18 points to lead Houston over Washington. Moses Malone had 17 points and 18 rebounds for the Rockets, who won their 13th home game in 16.

Detroit Pistons Coach Herb Brown wasn't sure his team was ready to play Wednesday night. "It's very hard to tell if this club is psyched up or not," Brown said. "It seems that when they're quiet and subdued, they're ready. And I guess they were quiet tonight."

Quiet or not, the Pistons apparently were ready. Six Detroit players each scored in double figures, as the Pistons overwhelmed an undermanned Atlanta Hawks team.

The Hawks' ranks were trimmed by several injuries. Among the missing were starters John Drew, Steve Hawkes and Geoff Petrie.

But Hawks Coach Hubie Brown said, "You've got to accept injuries. These guys are paid large sums of money to step in and produce, and that didn't happen tonight."

Bob Lanier's 20 points and Kevin Porter's 14 points and 14 assists keyed a Pistons' fastbreak attack that saw Detroit take command right from the start.

It was Atlanta's fourth loss in their past five outings.

The Pistons shot 64 per cent in the opening period and charged out to a 30-20 advantage. They led 55-33 at halftime and gunned to an 89-68 thirdperiod lead in winning their eighth game in the last 10 contests.

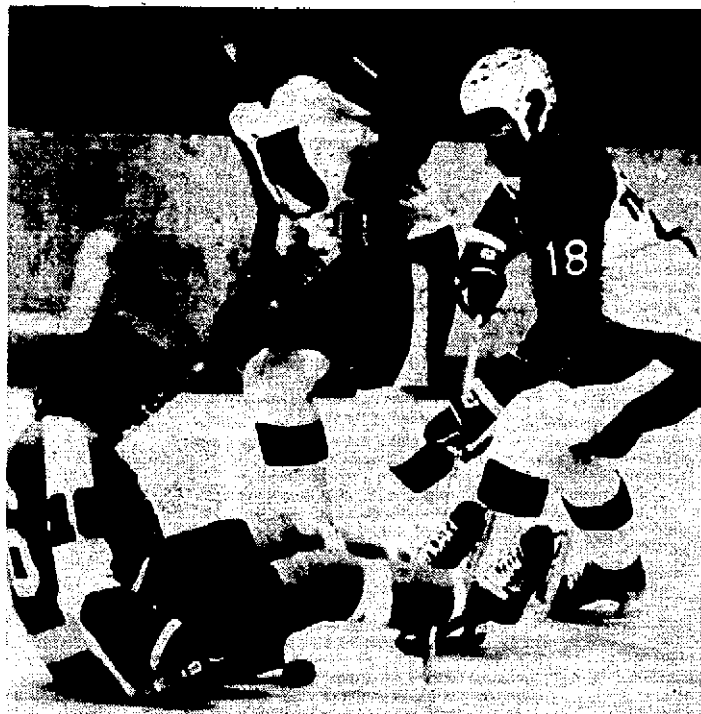

M.L. Carr had 16 points and Howard Porter 15 for the Pistons, while rookie center Leon Douglas grabbed a career high 17 rebounds.

Joe Meriwether paced the Hawks with 27 points.

Satra Joins Olympic TV Bidding

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Cap a relatively unknown international trading company outmaneuver the three major networks for the U.S. television rights to the 1980 Moscow Olympics?

Probably not, but it can certainly confuse the issue. That's what has happened with the emergence of the Satra Corp. as a fourth bidder for the U.S. rights to the Games. Satra joined CBS, ABC and NBC in the chase for the rights with the announcement, first by company officials and then by the Moscow Olympic Committee, that Satra and the Russians had signed a protocol — a preliminary agreement to continue negotiations.

Satra declined to specify terms of the agreement but, it was learned, all three networks have also signed protocols with the Soviet State Committee for Radio and Television over the past year or so. It was not immediately known how, if at all, Satra's agreement differed from the ones the networks signed.

The New York offices of Satra, besieged by newsmen intent on clearing up some of the mystery surrounding the company and its role in the Olympic talks, offered a brief statement by Chairman of the Board Ara Oztemel Wednesday that did little to clear up the confusion.

The statement said Satra representatives in Moscow "have signed a protocol calling for long-term cooperation with the U.S.S.R. Olympic Organizing Committee." There was no further clarification, but a company spokesman promised more details later.

Meanwhile, the networks went ahead with their plan to ask for Justice Department

Services Tonight For Eagles' Gay

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Funeral services for Blenda Gay, the slain Philadelphia Eagles defensive end, will be held tonight at Kaighan Baptist Church.

Under an agreement reached Wednesday in Superior Court, the services will be non-denominational.

Lawyers for the player's parents had claimed Gay's wife, Roxanne, who has been charged with the murder, wanted him buried as a Catholic. The family went to court seeking a Baptist service.

Gay's parents also wanted him buried in North Carolina, where he grew up and began his football career at Fayetteville State College, but Judge Peter Devine ruled that his wife had priority.

Roxanne Gay claimed Gay had a "strong affinity" for the Philadelphia area. However, the site of the burial was not announced. Gay was stabbed to death in his Blackwood, N.J., apartment Monday with what police described as an eight-inch kitchen knife.

Police and Eagles Coach Dick Vermeil said Gay and his wife had a history of marital problems. He had been with the National Football League team for two years.

Edgar Wilson (Dowagiac) is averaging 10.0 points and 3.1 rebounds as a starting forward for the Michigan State basketball team. His average is third best on the team, which is 3-4.

SKI REPORT

CHICAGO (AP) — Skiers already on the slopes for Christmas week were finding mostly good to excellent conditions at the 45 Michigan lodges operating Wednesday, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

A telephone survey by the auto club found six Southeast Michigan lodges hosting skiers, 21 in West Michigan, eight in East Michigan and 10 in the Upper Peninsula.

In southeast Michigan, Teeple Hill, near Pontiac, and Irish Hills, near Onsted, hoped to open for the weekend. In west Michigan, Newwago, near Newwago, and Ward Hills, near Branch, also were aiming for a weekend opening.

In addition, east Michigan's Sheridan Valley, near Atlanta, and the UP's Big Island, near Newberry, will welcome weekend skiers.

These conditions were reported: Southeast Michigan—Black Forest, near Port Huron, good, 12-inch base; Mt. Grampan, near Oxford, good, 11-to-12-inch base; Mt. Holly, near Holly, good to very good, up to 16-inch base; Pine Knob, near Clarkston, very good, 12-to-22-inch base; Teeple Hill, near Pontiac, fair, two-inch base; Alpine Valley, near Milford, very good, 12-to-16-inch base; Mt. Brighton, near Brighton, good to very good, 18-to-20-inch base; and Irish Hills, near Onsted, very good, 12-inch base.

West Michigan—Mt. Noh, near Harbor Springs, very good, 36-inch base; Boyne Mt., near Boyne Falls, very good, 36-inch base; Boyne Highland, near Harbor Springs, very good, 36-inch base; Walloon Hills, near Walloon Lake, excellent, 24-inch base; Thunder Mt., near Boyne Falls, excellent, 24-inch base; Petoskey, near Petoskey, very good, eight-to-10-inch base; Sugar Loaf, near Traverse City, excellent, 30-to-38-inch base; Shanty Creek, near Bellaire, excellent, 16-to-18-inch base.

Winterskill, near Lakeview, very good, eight-to-30-inch base; Schuss Mt., near Thompsonville, excellent, 34-to-39-inch base; Missaukee Mt., near Lake City, good, two-to-eight-inch base; Los Pines, near Harriette, excellent, 10-to-14-inch base.

Cabotage, near Cadillac, very good, 12-to-28-inch base; Ward Hills, near Branch, good, four-to-six-inch base; Newwago, near Newwago, poor, three-inch base; Pando, near Rockford, excellent, 12-to-18-inch base; Cannonsburg, near Cannonsburg, good to very good, 18-to-24-inch base; Timber Ridge, near Gobles, good to excellent, eight-to-16-inch base; Swiss Valley, near Jones, excellent, four-to-eight-inch base; Royal Valley, near Buchanan, excellent, five-inch base.

East Michigan—Mt. Maria, near Spruce, very good, six-inch base; Sylvan Knob, near Gaylord, excellent, three-to-five-inch base; Michawye Slopes, near Gaylord, excellent, eight-inch base; Hanson Hills, near Grayling, good, four-inch base; Skyline, near Grayling, very good, three-to-four-inch base; Snows, near Harrison, very good, three-to-10-inch base; Mott Mt., near Farwell, very good, three-to-15-inch base; and Bimz Apple Mt., near Freeland, fair to good, up to 30-inch base.

Upper Peninsula—Mont Ripley, near Houghton, excellent, 12-inch base; Porcupine Mt., near Ontonagon, excellent, eight-inch base; Indianhead Mt., near Wakefield, excellent, 18-inch base; Big Powderhorn, near Bessemer, excellent, 18-inch base; Mt. Zion, near Iron River, excellent, 12-to-16-inch base; Quail, near Ishpeming, good, 18-inch base; Cliff's Ridge, near Marquette, very good, 13-inch base; Bruite Mt., near Iron River, excellent, six-to-12-inch base; Pine Mt., near Iron Mountain, excellent, six-to-12-inch base; Pine Mt., near Iron Mountain, excellent, 12-to-24-inch base; Big Valley, near Newberry, excellent, 12-inch base.

A check of Canadian ski lodges showed generally good to excellent conditions and bases of eight to 20 inches in Ontario, very good conditions and eight-to-31-inch bases in Quebec and fair to good skiing on up to 28 inches of base in the Canadian Rockies.

Finley May Have First Break In Baseball Suit

CHICAGO (AP) — Charley Finley may have gotten his first legal break when the judge in his $3.5-million suit against baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn asked a question about player salaries.

Finley was scheduled to take the stand again today.

The Oakland A's owner said he got angry at Kuhn on June 18 for interfering with his business decisions after the commissioner voided his $1.5 million sale of pitcher Vida Blue to the New York Yankees.

So he filed the suit the following week.

Kuhn stopped another bid to sell unsigned outfielder Joe Rudi and relief pitcher Rollie Fingers for $1 million each to the Boston Red Sox, money that Finley said he needed to pay player salaries and bargain with in other deals.

Finley, testifying Wednesday in U.S. District Court, said he had a "personal dispute" with Kuhn on at least two occasions before the attempted June 15 sales. He added that he and Kuhn spoke for several hours at a Chicago hotel beginning less than two hours after he announced the sales.

"The words were very heated for the first 10 minutes," Finley testified, saying he then tried to get Kuhn to understand why he made the deals. But Finley testified that Kuhn said he had to "go back to New York and give this sale deep consideration."

Three days later, he voided the deals over the opposition of both major league presidents.

Judge Frank McGarr raised the money question when Finley's lawyers tried to introduce a deposition about an historic $1 million sale by former Cincinnati Reds President Bill DeWitt.

"Is there any suggestion that the reasonableness of the price is relevant or has anything to do with this case?" McGarr asked Neil Papiano, Finley's lawyer.

Papiano said Kuhn's decision voiding the trades had touched on the question of price and asked to continue. But McGarr blocked his question, saying of Kuhn: "If that's his reason (for blocking the sales), it wasn't a good one. I'm sure he has more."

Nancy May Sue For Wedding Presents

GEORGE HARRISON

LILLIAN ROTH

WHEN YOU ASKED THIS ONE: Is Henry Kissinger's wife, Nancy, getting ready to sue the U.S. government? It's not quite that bad yet, but Nancy is fighting mad and thinking about suing. The reason is that the Treasury Department has confiscated the rare and costly wedding presents that she and Henry received from foreign princes and potentates. The government considers the items gifts of state and not personal presents. Even though many donors paid for the gifts from personal funds, the government won't give them back. Since Nancy and Henry won't get the gifts, some donors would now like them back. But the government still says no.

Q: What's with George Harrison? The other Beatles seem to be getting it together but George is either hiding out or in trouble. — V.Y., Ocala, Fla.

A: George has been plagued by lawsuits, including one for plagiarism, and also by bad health from liver trouble. His problems turned him into a recluse but things are looking up right now. He has a new album called "Thirty-Three and One-Third" (the record speed and his age) and a new 27-year-old Mexican girlfriend, Olivia Arias. As soon as his divorce from Patty comes through, George says he'll marry Olivia.

Q: What happened to Lillian Roth? — K.S., Cherry Chase, Md.

A: Lillian's still alive and kicking, mostly on the college lecture circuit, talking not about her former alcoholism but about the good old days of vaudeville, and the young people seem to love it. She's 66 now and only occasionally plays a small nightclub date.

Q: I read so much about Diane von Furstenberg and her steady, Barry Diller, in the society columns, but is this a serious love affair? — L.S., West Hartford, Conn.

A: Although they are pictured prominently at almost every social event, like the recent circus-marriage of model Marisa Berenson, you needn't expect wedding bells to ring for them. Paramount board chairman Diller believes in a very low profile. Still it helps to have a rich, successful beauty on your arm for the right social occasions, and Diane, whose personal tastes are much more exotic than her simplistic dress line, is the perfect date for Diller. That's at least how it all started. Their closest friends say they are best friends now and genuinely enjoy each other's company.

Q: With taxes and recession and a rotten economy aren't there fewer millionaires in the U.S. now than ever before? — M.D., Topeka, Kan.

A: To the contrary, the number of millionaires is increasing steadily. The latest figures indicate that in terms of personal wealth there are now 180,000 millionaires as compared with 67,000 in 1962 and a paltry 13,000 back in 1948.

Q: You told us about that face-slapping episode between Nureyev and actress Michelle Phillips on the set of "Valentino." Are they still fighting? — M.A., Lakeville, Conn.

A: Michelle has finished her work on the movie but Nureyev still gets into snits. Latest tantrum: bored waiting for his next scene, Nureyev sent his assistant off to get some cakes. The poor man brought the wrong ones and Rudi drop-kicked them sky high.

Q: Any advance word about Barbara Streisand's new movie, "A Star is Born"? — C.S., Providence, R.I.

A: Streisand is playing the little dictator, since she's the producer as well as the star of this latest remake and isn't letting critics see her epic until the very last minute, so there is no advance word. Warner Bros. is worried. Even top executives around the studios at Burbank are referring to the movie as "Barbra Lyndon," a bad joke, making allusions to their big financial flop last year, Kubrick's "Barry Lyndon."

Q: Who would you say is the most prolific writer of romantic novels? — M.H., New York City

A: That title would have to go to Barbara Cartland, known as the queen of the love story, who has written about 200 romantic novels. There are about 40 of the 70-year-old author's titles on the paperback racks right now. Amazing, when you think the lady never writes about violence or illicit sex. As she says, "My heroines are always virgins; they never go to bed without a ring on their finger."

Let's Talk Real Estate

by Jim Ziems, GRI

In every home, no matter what the style, there should be two types of plumbing systems. One is instrumental in providing water for the kitchen, bathroom, laundry and other uses. The supply for this is kept under constant pressure to insure full force flow from faucets. Every home has a main shutoff valve, usually located near the water meter, where the supply enters the house. The second plumbing system drains waste water from all home fixtures. Know about the plumbing system in your new home.

Indeed, the knowledgeable people at CENTURY 21 ZIEMS RED CARPET REALTORS, 4140 South M-139, 429-1518 can guide you in avoiding the many costly errors inherent in home buying and we'll make every effort to find you the home that best fits your needs, taste and budget. A member of MLS, we can also sell your present home for you promptly. May we take this opportunity to wish you a memorable Christmas and a year of peace.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, Dec. 23, the 358th day of 1976. There are eight days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1941, U.S. forces on Wake Island surrendered to the Japanese after heavy fighting in the Pacific War.

On this date:
In 1783, George Washington resigned as Army Commander in Chief and retired to his home at Mount Vernon in Virginia.

In 1788, Maryland voted to cede a parcel of land for the seat of the U.S. government.

In 1865, the Mormon leader Joseph Smith was born in Sharon, Vt.

In 1948, former Premier Hideki Tojo of Japan and six other Japanese war leaders were executed in Tokyo.

In 1962, the first of more than 1,100 prisoners captured in the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba began arriving in Miami in an airlift that followed payment of ransom to the Castro government.

Ten years ago: Thousands of Christian Arabs were crossing from Israel into Jordan for reunion with friends and for celebration of Christmas in Bethlehem.

Five years ago: Former Teamster Union president James Hoffa was released from the Federal penitentiary in Lewisburg, Pa., after President Richard Nixon commuted his sentence.

One year ago: The CIA chief in Athens, Richard Welch, was killed by gunmen outside his residence.

Today's birthdays: Dancer and choreographer Jose Greco is 58. Investment executive James Roosevelt is 69.

Thought for today: Farmers know how to milk the cows, while politicians know how to milk the farmers. — Anonymous.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, General George Washington, in Bucks County, Pa., wrote to Colonel Joseph Reed at Bristol, Pa., and said an attempt would be made on Christmas to cross the Delaware River and attack British-held Trenton, N.J. The dispatch said: "For Heaven's sake, keep this to yourself."

SMATTERING OF SIGNS: The more luxurious and elegant the environment is, the happier a Libra woman will be. Those born under Taurus are seldom inclined to change their plans, or try new methods of doing things. Those born under Pisces are often imposed upon because they are easily influenced.

Sandwich Favorite of handleader Sammy Kaye: Ham, fried egg (pancake style) topped with a slice of melting cheese on toasted onion roll.

Bantam's third-in-a-row undersea literary acquisition is the thrilling "Raise the Titanic," following "Jaws" and "The Deep." (Next the editors will be coming to work in scuba outfits!)

Hats off to Gwen Verdon. The "Chicago" star visits veteran hospitals twice a week.

Comedian Wayland Flowers, a native of Georgia, too, tells friends, "I also have a booking in January!" A mother complained that she and her daughter didn't see eye-to-eye on certain subjects. "She wants to find a nice man and settle down," she confided, "and we just want her to get married!"

BH Soldier Returns As Recruiter Aide

Pvt. Dale Sams, son of Mrs. Jo Evelyn Sams of Benton Harbor, has returned home as an Army recruiter aide, according to S/lt George Johnson, station commander of the Army Recruiting office in the Fairplain Plaza.

A 1974 graduate of the Benton Harbor High School, Pvt. Sams is one of more than 400 aides who have returned to their local areas across the country to tell the Army story for 30-day periods. Aide duty is limited to recent top graduates of Army individual training courses who were nominated by recruiters for the hometown recruiter assistance program.

While in high school, the 20-year-old soldier was a member of the football team for four years and was an officer of the Varsity club. He attended Ferris State university and worked for the City of Benton Harbor before joining the Army.

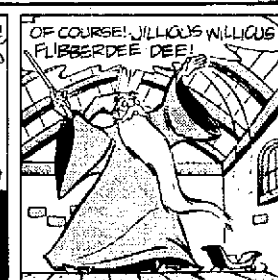

Pvt. Sams just completed a field artillery course at Fort Sill, Okla., where he also participated in basic training. Following his aide duty, he will be assigned to an artillery unit in Korea.

As a recruiter aide, Pvt. Sams will talk with Benton Harbor area young people about his military experiences and encourage them to contact an Army recruiter about joining him in the Army.

Pvt. Sams invites those interested in learning more about the Army to contact him or a recruiter by stopping at the Army office in the Plaza or by phoning 927-3155.

APPLIED CONVICTIONS TO THEIR WORK

Greatest Presidents Firmest In Faith

AP Religion Writer

The great presidents of the United States invariably have been men with a firmly rooted faith in God, but they've also usually had a deftly pragmatic streak for translating their convictions into the well-being and service of society.

They've been activists, not insular pietists. They were sure and settled in their beliefs,

EDITOR'S NOTE: This fourth installment of a five-part Christmas series on the religion of U.S. presidents, "The Presidents and God," deals with presidents of the 20th century.

generally without troubling hangups, and got on with the job at hand, applying their principles to their work in the world. "Be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only," Theodore Roosevelt would say, quoting the verse from the epistle of James as his guideline. As the first president of the 20th century, he called the office a "bully pulpit" for moral leadership.

He and other outstanding presidents of the past have consistently shown not only a solid religious footing, but usually broad knowledge of Scripture as well as other classics, coupled with an intellectual vigor and the courage of their convictions.

John F. Kennedy, something of a political historian himself whose grace and intelligence gave a fresh vitality to the presidency before he was cut down by an assassin in 1963, once observed that while past presidents varied in religious beliefs, "each placed a special trust in God," and he added: "Those who were the strongest intellectually were also the strongest spiritually."

That seems evident in this review of the record of such men as Jefferson, both Adams, Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt and Wilson. They're among presidents classified as "most religious" in a case-by-case study, "God in the White House," by David E. Green and Edmund Fuller.

Listed among the "moderately religious" are Washington, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Van Buren, Polk, Buchanan, Cleveland, Hoover, Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson, considered presidents of varying excellence. The comparative study came prior to Nixon and Ford.

The "moderately religious" category includes both eminent and lesser figures. Strikingly, however, all of those classified as "least religious" are considered historically as second-rate presidents — William Henry Harrison, Taylor, Fillmore, Grant, Arthur, Taft and Harding.

In any case, the 20th century began with a knowledgeable, widely read, strongly religious and buoyantly individualistic personality in the presidency, Theodore Roosevelt, man of letters and man of action.

A cavalry "rough rider" in Cuba in the Spanish-American war before his presidency and big game hunter afterward, "trust-buster" Roosevelt was a dynamo of energy, a physical fitness buff and a dedicated Dutch Reformed churchman from the age of 16, regular in attendance.

"I know all the excuses for not going to church," he wrote. "I know that one can worship the Creator and dedicate oneself to good living in a grove of trees, or by a running brook, or in one's own house, just as well as in church. But I also know that as a matter of cold fact the average man does not thus worship or dedicate himself."

As a student at Harvard, he taught a lively, heavily attended Sunday school class at Episcopal Christ church for three years, but the rector ousted him on learning he belonged to another denomination and intended to stay in it.

He was a booming hymn-singer, and an anecdote in his presidency had it that on death he would reorganize the heavenly choir into 10,000 sopranos, 10,000 altos and 20,000 tenors, adding, "I'll sing bass."

He knew the Bible, quoted it frequently and maintained that "the religious man who is most useful is not he whose sole care is to save his own soul, but whose religion bids him strive to advance decency and clean living and make the world a better place for his fellows to live in."

He deplored denominational rivalry, just as have most notable presidents, in terms that would not become common until the modern ecumenical movement. He said:

"I wish I could make every member of a Christian church feel that just so far as he spends his time in quarrelling with other Christians of other churches he is helping to discredit Christianity in the eyes of the world."

William Howard Taft, a Unitarian, harassed by critics who falsely accused him of everything from atheism to selling out to the Pope, said after a competent but lackluster presidency from 1909 to 1913, "I hate politics."

Pressured into seeking a second term, he got only eight electoral votes to 435 for Woodrow Wilson.

Wilson, scholar, historian, president of Ivy-league Princeton university, was probably the most intellectually disciplined, doctrinally astute Christian including open covenants openly arrived at, freedom of the seas, ending of trade barriers, arms reduction, the League of Nations. But the ideals were mangled in compromises forced by European diplomats in the Treaty of Versailles.

Canny French diplomat George Clemenceau remarked cynically, "He thinks he is another Jesus Christ come upon the earth to reform men."

Wilson campaigned tirelessly for the league, finally collapsing, partly paralyzed, as his impossible dream faded in his time. Yet he remains a founder of international cooperation.

Warren G. Harding, a machine politician, fond of cards and drinks with cronies, got the nod for the presidency in a "smoke-filled room" of Chicago's Blackstone hotel — from which that phrase originated.

An Ohio physician, newspaper publisher, civic booster and joiner, he was a Mason, Elk, Moose, and although a religious skeptic, joined a Baptist church when, says religious historian

"Storms from abroad directly challenge three institutions indispensable to Americans, now as always. The first is religion. It is the source of the other two — democracy and international good faith."

He had gone to Groton school which emphasized "manly Christian character," an applied, muscular sort of faith. Like his scrappy sixth cousin and earlier president, Theodore Roosevelt, FDR saw the office as one of moral leadership in the social sphere.

His wife, Eleanor, wrote that Roosevelt's religion was "a simple and direct faith" and that it "had something to do with his confidence. . . He could pray for help and guidance and have faith in his own judgment as a result."

Roosevelt's practical, optimistic faith, like that of others in that time, was troubled about how a highly civilized, generally Christian nation, Germany, could have unleashed the horrors of Nazism. In his last year, he became engrossed with the existential theology of Danish mystic Soren Kierkegaard and his emphasis on the inevitably sinful streak in human nature.

Harry S. Truman, a Baptist with a broad familiarity with the Bible, said he had read it through twice before he was 12. He took his religion seriously and habitually attended First Baptist church in Washington. His wife, Bess, was Episcopalian.

Democracy, he said, "is built upon a spiritual basis — and on a belief in God and observance of moral principle. And in the long run, only the church can provide that basis." He, like many presidents, deplored denominational rivalry, saying he doubted that God picked favorites.

Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of Allied forces in World War II and popular military hero, was reared in a Bible-oriented family connected with the Brethren in Christ. His grandfather and an uncle were ministers.

However, he never joined a church until the second Sunday after his inauguration in 1953 when he appeared before elders of the National Presbyterian church, made a public confession of faith, was baptized and received communion for the first time.

Religion was fashionable in Eisenhower's presidency, perhaps somewhat superficially so in some cases, and church membership and attendance hit all-time highs. Eisenhower's comments indicated a rather generalized belief.

"Our government makes no sense unless it is founded on a deeply felt religious faith, and I don't care what it is," he once said.

Eisenhower brought piety to the Potomac. He was the first president to attend annual presidential prayer breakfasts, a pattern that has continued. He established a practice of opening his cabinet meetings with prayer. Under him, Congress authorized the phrase, "In God We Trust," on coins and currency. He called the struggle with communism "a fight between anti-God and a belief in the Almighty."

Robert S. Alley, "his political position suggested the wisdom of the move."

His political pals led to his downfall in the Teapot Dome oil scandal, at the news of which he collapsed of a heart attack and died shortly afterward.

Calvin Coolidge, the taciturn, upright, cautious "silent Cal," had a vague religious view from childhood Sunday school in Vermont, but not until he became president in 1923 did he join the Congregational church (now the United Church of Christ).

He said that brought him "great satisfaction." However, he objected to preaching that went beyond "a change of heart" to social application of gospel principles. "I think most of the clergy today are preaching socialism," he said in an interview after he left the presidency.

Herbert Hoover, mining engineer and World War I relief administrator, was the first Quaker in the White House, a non-creedal faith stressing an "inner light" for guidance. He attended "first day meetings" regularly on Sunday in Washington.

A man of intelligence and integrity, he was vilified for the "Great Depression" that struck in his term, but afterward lived to become a respected, honored elder statesman, dying in 1964 at age 90.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, president longer than any other man, for 13 years from 1933 until 1945, was a lifelong communicant at St. James Episcopal church in his native Hyde Park, N.Y., where he served as vestryman and senior warden.

"A deeply religious man," his close associate, Samuel Rosenman, said of him. On the rise of Nazism in Europe, Roosevelt told Congress in 1939:

'Those who were strongest intellectually, were also the strongest spiritually' ever to occupy the White House, and also a man of far-seeing idealism.

Yet, as with Lincoln, there was a tragic element in Wilson's high moral vision. His valiant struggle for a League of Nations for international cooperation and peace was rebuffed in the United States. Yet the dream once loosed, though beaten, didn't die.

Son of a Presbyterian minister, Wilson was totally committed to that faith and it was a driving force in his two terms, from 1913 to 1921. "There is nothing that gives such pith to public service as religion," he said.

Wilson prayed on his knees each morning and night, read the Bible daily, knew it thoroughly.

Despite his efforts to keep the U.S. out of World War I, war came, and Wilson enumerated his famous 14 points of peace, the East Room.

"The King's chapel," the late theologian Reinhold Niebuhr called it, referring to the royal court custom of having agreeable priests in attendance.

"Like a god, the president could manipulate religion to suit his intentions," writes religious historian Alley. But outside that shielded sphere, the truth broke forth about Watergate and drove him from office. Gerald Ford, the outgoing president, is a dedicated Episcopalian, whose son, Mike, is studying for the ministry.

"I have a relationship with Jesus Christ through my church and through my daily life," Ford said recently. "That commitment has a tremendous subjective impact on decisions that I have to make. . . Prayer is very important to me."

Drug Clinics Criticized

DETROIT (AP) — At least seven state-licensed drug abuse clinics in the Detroit area offer substandard care, a city health department official charged Wednesday.

Deputy Director George Gaines said the seven facilities should not have been licensed by the state.

Two of them have been associated in the past with illegal drug trafficking and prostitution, Gaines alleged.

The other five failed to meet technical requirements for full licensing, such as maintaining proper record-keeping and in-service training of staff, Gaines said.

The facilities were licensed over objections of the Wayne County Department of Substance Abuse.

Dr. Edward Leibson, director of the Wayne County department, confirmed the state has licensed some clinics over objections from his agency. But Leibson said progress is being made in working out difficulties.

APPLIED CONVICTIONS TO THEIR WORK

Greatest Presidents Firmest In Faith

AP Religion Writer

The great presidents of the United States invariably have been men with a firmly rooted faith in God, but they've also usually had a deftly pragmatic streak for translating their convictions into the well-being and service of society.

They've been activists, not insular pietists. They were sure and settled in their beliefs,

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market
Climate Warmer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, basking in a climate of low interest rates and hopes for a continuing subdued trend in inflation, posted its second gain in a row Wednesday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks climbed 6.15 to 1,514.51, its highest close since it finished at 900.19 on Sept. 30. In the past two sessions the average has risen 12.12 points.

Big Board volume continued to increase, reaching 26.97 million shares against 24.39 million Tuesday.

The NYSE composite index rose .27 to 56.44; the American Stock Exchange market value index was ahead .94 at 105.26, and the NASDAQ composite index for the over-the-counter market was up .50 at 95.18.

Last Local Settles At Caterpillar

DAVENPORT, Iowa (AP) — United Auto Workers Local 215, the only local to reject Caterpillar Tractor Co.'s earlier three-year contract offer, announced its own tentative settlement Wednesday.

The 1,325 members of Local 215 will vote on the proposal from noon to 4 p.m. Monday. The local rejected Caterpillar's original contract overwhelmingly in a dispute over local issues. Officials refused to discuss details of Wednesday's agreement.

The central contract was approved Sunday by locals in Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Colorado and Tennessee.

That agreement provides wage increases of 34 to 60 cents an hour the first year and 3 1/2 and 3 per cent in the second and third years.

The boost will give the commissioners a base pay of $11,925 next year and $12,521 in 1978.

Heath Suit
Names Six Defendants

Heath Co. has filed suit in Berrien Circuit court alleging that six subcontractors improperly installed the heating, ventilation and air conditioning system in an addition to Heath's St. Joseph plant two years ago.

The suit asks the court to decide if the subcontractors should be made a party to arbitration proceedings already instigated against the project's architect and general contractor. If the matter is to be handled in court, the suit seeks any amount over $10,000 to which Heath is entitled.

According to the suit, all defendants had a part in the design or installation of the system. Defendants are Stouffer Electric Co., Benton Harbor; Adams Sheet Metal Co., St. Joseph; C.L. Mahoney Co. and Havel Bros., Inc., both of Kalamazoo; Charles F. Lummi, engineer; and Aerodynamics Inspecting Co.

The suit states that the plaintiff has begun arbitration against Wayne C. Hatfield & Associates, Benton Harbor architect, and Holland Construction Co., St. Joseph, the general contractor, before the American Arbitration Association.

Heath claims that all subcontractors signed contracts that contained a provision for arbitration under the American Arbitration Association's rules.

TO TALK ECONOMY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Carter's top economic advisers, in agreement that the economy needs stimulation, will meet with him Friday to discuss how to stimulate it.

BOOZE SEIZED: Berrien sheriff's Deputy Jack Root inspects four cases and sack of allegedly untaxed liquor he seized early today with aid of CB radio in his patrol car. Root said high quality liquor is worth estimated $400. CB aided Root in locating car from which liquor was seized. (Staff photo)

CB Aids Police
In Pair's Arrest

By TOM SAWYER

Staff Writer

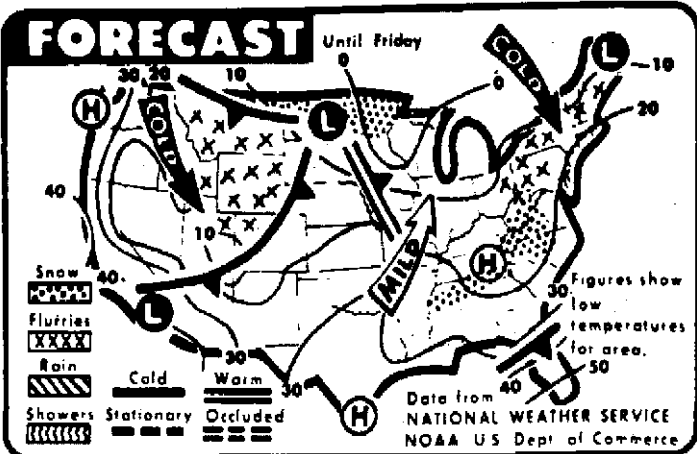

A Berrien sheriff's deputy said CB radio broadcasts led to the arrests of a man and young woman early today and seizure of some $400 in allegedly untaxed liquor from a car.

Deputy Jack Root said he heard a voice on the CB radio in his patrol car that was "mumbling, slurred and sounded drunk." Root said that with the aid of truckers using their CBs he pinpointed the car's location and stopped it on I-94 in Coloma township about 2:30 a.m.

Root said the voice on the radio began talking with him and truckers. Truckers were able to talk the person using the radio into giving the location and description of the car, Root reported.

Root said he confiscated five cases in boxes and a sack of what he termed "high-grade" liquor believed to have been purchased in Illinois.

Booked at the Berrien county jail on charges of possession of liquor untaxed by Michigan and driving under the influence of intoxicants was Edward Syring, 65, Bay City. Booked on a charge of drunk and disorderly was Barbara Anderson, 17, also of Bay City.

WEATHER FORECAST: Mild weather is forecast Thursday for most of East but colder weather is expected in Northwest. Snow and snow flurries are forecast along the Appalachians and in western and northern Plains. (AP Wirephoto)

DISTRICT COURT

Three Ask Hearing
On Felony Charges

Thirteen people were sentenced in Berrien Fifth District court, three others were bound over to circuit court, and three demanded preliminary examinations.

Demanding examination were:

Robert Stacy, Jr., 23, of LaPorte, Ind., on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon against a state trooper Dec. 3 in New Buffalo township. He is charged in a warrant with attempting to run over Trooper Peter Rham with a snowmobile. Stacy also pleaded innocent to a charge of fleeing and eluding police in connection with the incident. He was jailed in lieu of bonds totaling $7,500.

Girard Corley, 23, of 578 Green avenue, Benton Harbor, on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and carrying a concealed weapon, a gun, Dec. 20 in Benton Harbor. He was jailed in lieu of a $5,000 bond.

Jerry Milton Davis, 18, of Box 33, 38th avenue, Covert on a charge of larceny, safe damage, Dec. 17 in Coloma township. Davis' bond was set at $5,000.

Gregory Lee Clark, 20, of 1120 Monroe street, Benton Harbor, $50 or 14 days in jail for assault and battery against Thelma Guest Dec. 18 in Benton Harbor.

Steven F. Hatley, 17, of Box 291, Creek road, Berrien Springs, $35 for malicious destruction of property under $100 Dec. 18 at the Burger King on M-139 in Benton township. An accomplice, Kenneth W. Harley, 18, of the same address, was also sentenced to $55 or six days in jail.

Ernest Phillips, Jr., 17, of 202 Felton avenue, Benton township, $75 or 10 days in jail for receiving and concealing stolen property under $100 at the Market Grill in Benton township Nov. 23.

Son Milliken, 31, of 6545 Center street, Coloma, $152 and six months probation for driving under the influence of intoxicants Nov. 1 in Benton township.

Sentenced for the following offenses were:

Possession of an unregistered gun — Leroy J. Kuznicki, 36, of Box 186, North Wyman road, Edmore, $150 or 30 days in jail; Minor V. Griggs, 36, of Milwaukee, $200; and Robert E. Dodd, 31, of Milwaukee, $200.

Shoplifting — Penny A. Traylor, 22, of 3016 Lincoln avenue, St. Joseph, $121 or 30 days in jail; and Essie Mae Flowers, 21, of 439 Ohio street, Benton Harbor, $122 or 30 days in jail.

Use of marijuana — Ray M. Hodges, 24, of Richton Park, Ill., $100 and six months probation; and Kathryn L. Ridenour, 17, of 3833 Orchard, Stevensville, $50.

Johnny W. Solesbee, 38, of Route 2, Territorial road, Waterliet, pleaded innocent on charges of driving under the influence of intoxicants and driving with open intoxicants Dec. 19 in Benton township. A charge of unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle was not authorized against him because a complaint was never filed against him by the owner of the car, according to Assistant Prosecutor Patrick Murphy.

Charges were dismissed against the following:

Melvin Powell, 21, of 1773 Eastland avenue, Benton township. He was originally charged with breaking and entering but the charge was dismissed on a plea bargain in connection with a pending case in circuit court of larceny in a building, Murphy said.

Cheryl "Chris" Cummings, 28, of 722 East Vineyard, Benton Harbor. She was charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder but the charge was dismissed because the victim moved out of state, Murphy said.

Robert E. Stewart, 24, of Galien. He was charged with malicious destruction of property over $100, an automobile, but the charge was dismissed because of insufficient evidence, Murphy said.

'Army' To Reach
'76 Goal

The 1976 Salvation Army Tree of Lights campaign will reach its $12,000 goal by Christmas eve, according to Major George Collins, commanding officer of the Twin Cities Salvation Army.

Major Collins said the star at the top of the tree, located at the corner of M-139 and East Napier avenue, Fairplain Plaza, will be turned on earlier than in 1975.

The major said, "By reaching the goal this year, 1,806 individuals will receive dinner or toys this Christmas day who would otherwise not know the joys of Christmas." The major also said that another 776 senior citizens in nursing homes and inmates in the county jail will receive gifts.

The total people to be assisted so far this holiday season is 2,582, which exceeds the 1975 figures by more than 500.

Collins, on behalf of the Salvation Army advisory board, commented, "The people in the Twin City area are to be complimented for opening their hearts and caring for the needy this Christmas season."

Precious Little Stocking Gifts

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Expectant parents whose babies are arriving in these days just before Christmas may be too nervous or too busy to find little gifts to stuff into stockings. But if the baby is delivered at Women and Infants Hospital here, there's no need to worry. Officials say that all babies going home Christmas day will be wrapped snugly in bright red Christmas stockings.

LEGAL NOTICE

TO THE ELECTRIC CUSTOMERS OF THE INDIANA & MICHIGAN ELECTRIC COMPANY

The following Notice of Hearing is published pursuant to the Michigan Public Service Commission's Order in Case No. U-5073 dated September 17, 1976.

Monthly hearings have been scheduled by the Michigan Public Service Commission for the purpose of considering authorization to permit the Indiana & Michigan Electric Company to include in the monthly billings to its customers charges or credits for changes in appropriate items of expense associated with purchased and net interchange power from a base cost, included in previously approved rate levels.

A public hearing will be held on Wednesday, January 5, 1977, at 1:30 P.M. in the offices of the Commission, 6545 Mercantile Way, Lansing, Michigan to consider inclusion of a proposed purchased and net interchange power adjustment charge of 2.07 mills per kilowatt-hour to be applied to bills to Indiana & Michigan Electric Company customers rendered in the February, 1977 billing period.

The hearing shall be for the purpose of determining the amount of purchased and net interchange power expense for the calendar month of November, 1976 and the reasons therefor. Details of the calculation of the proposed adjustment will be presented along with a summary of net system kilowatt-hour requirements including details of the various types of purchased and net interchange power transactions and circumstances necessitating any outages of installed capacity for a period exceeding ninety (90) days. This information will be available on and after December 23, 1976 at the offices of the Commission Secretary, 6545 Mercantile Way, Lansing, Michigan 48910 and at the Division offices of the In-

The Michigan Public Service Commission may either grant or deny the requested adjustment, in whole or in part, and may grant a lesser or greater adjustment than that requested. Interested parties may intervene by placing an appearance on the record at the hearing.

Jurisdiction in this matter is pursuant to Sections 1, 2, 6, 7 and 8 of 1909 PA 106, as amended, MCLA 460.551 et seq.; 1909 PA 360, as amended, MCLA 462.2 et seq.; Sections 3 and 4 of 1919 PA 419, as amended, MCLA 460.51 et seq.; Sections 4, 6 and 8a of 1939 PA 3, as amended, MCLA 460.1 et seq.; 1969 PA 306, as amended, MCLA 24.201 et seq.; and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, 1954 Administrative Code, Supplement No. 54, R400.11 et seq.

Precious Little Stocking Gifts

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Expectant parents whose babies are arriving in these days just before Christmas may be too nervous or too busy to find little gifts to stuff into stockings. But if the baby is delivered at Women and Infants Hospital here, there's no need to worry.

Officials say that all babies going home Christmas day will be wrapped snugly in bright red Christmas stockings.

LEGAL NOTICE

TO THE ELECTRIC CUSTOMERS OF THE INDIANA & MICHIGAN ELECTRIC COMPANY

The following Notice of Hearing is published pursuant to the Michigan Public Service Commission's Order in Case No. U-5073 dated September 17, 1976.

Monthly hearings have been scheduled by the Michigan Public Service Commission for the purpose of considering authorization to permit the Indiana & Michigan Electric Company to include in the monthly billings to its customers charges or credits for expense associated with purchased and net interchange power from a base cost, included in previously approved rate levels.

A public hearing will be held on Wednesday, January 5, 1977, at 1:30 P.M. in the offices of the Commission, 6545 Mercantile Way, Lansing, Michigan to consider inclusion of a proposed purchased and net interchange power adjustment charge of 2.07 mills per kilowatt-hour to be applied to bills to Indiana & Michigan Electric Company customers rendered in the February, 1977 billing period.

The hearing shall be for the purpose of determining the amount of purchased and net interchange power expense for the calendar month of November, 1976 and the reasons therefor. Details of the calculation of the proposed adjustment will be presented along with a summary of net system kilowatt-hour requirements including details of the various types of purchased and interchanged power transactions and circumstances necessitating any outages of installed capacity for a period exceeding ninety (90) days. This information will be available on and after December 23, 1976 at the offices of the Commission Secretary, 6545 Mercantile Way, Lansing, Michigan 48910 and at the Division offices of the In-

The Michigan Public Service Commission may either grant or deny the requested adjustment, in whole or in part, and may grant a lesser or greater adjustment than that requested. Interested parties may intervene by placing an appearance on the record at the hearing.

Jurisdiction in this matter is pursuant to Sections 1, 2, 6, 7 and 8 of 1909 PA 106, as amended, MCLA 460.551 et seq.; 1909 PA 300, as amended, MCLA 462.2 et seq.; Sections 3 and 4 of 1919 PA 419, as amended, MCLA 460.51 et seq.; Sections 4, 6 and 6a of 1939 PA 3, as amended, MCLA 460.1 et seq.; 1969 PA 306, as amended, MCLA 24.201 et seq.; and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, 1954 Administrative Code, Supplement No. 54, R460.11 et seq.
